

Lukeman To Scrap Borglum's Designs In Memorial Work

New York Sculptor Says He Will Eliminate 'Head Carved Out of Rock by My Predecessor.'

COMES TO ATLANTA IN FIVE WEEKS' TIME

Members of Committee Believe Sculptor Will Utilize All Possible Work Done to Date.

Augustus Lukeman, newly-elected successor to Gutzon Borglum as sculptor of the memorial to the Confederacy on Stone Mountain, will ignore all designs of his predecessor, and will create a new and original plan for the great project.

Information that the design of Borglum would be scrapped and that the head which he carved out of the rock would be eliminated was brought to Atlanta Thursday night by Associated Press dispatches in the shape of a statement by Mr. Lukeman.

This was taken to refer to the giant head of Robert E. Lee, which was completed by Mr. Borglum many months ago and unveiled with an impressive ceremony in the presence of several southern governors and an immense throng of spectators. If the head of Lee is eliminated, it is also considered probable that the head of Jackson—now partially completed—and the work done on Lee's figure and horse also will be ignored by the new sculptor.

Question Accuracy. Atlanta officials of the Stone Mountain Memorial association Thursday night questioned the accuracy of the statement attributed to Mr. Lukeman.

Three members of the committee in charge of selecting the new sculptor were called up and while they made it plain that they were not in position to control the action, they understood from conversation with Mr. Lukeman that he intended to utilize all possible work done to date in completing the memorial according to his own ideas. One member added that Mr. Lukeman had made the statement that a few minor changes in the head of Lee and in other work so far accomplished might be necessary, but that the new sculptor had never hinted that he intended to eliminate the work that now stands on the side of the mountain.

Mr. Lukeman, New York dispatches stated, intends to make a change in the central group, but he will continue the idea of the hall of fame at the base of the mountain.

LUKEMAN TO CARRY OUT HIS OWN CONCEPTION.

New York, April 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial design of Gutzon Borglum, dismissed sculptor of the project, will be scrapped and Augustus Lukeman, who was appointed as Borglum's successor today, for a design entirely Mr. Lukeman's own. Mr. Lukeman made this announcement here tonight in discussing his appointment by the committee in charge of carving of the granite mountain near Atlanta, Ga., into a monument to the heroes of the Confederacy. In about five weeks, Mr. Lukeman said, he will return to Atlanta and before next winter he hopes to have working on the mountain from models from 20 to 30 skilled stonecutters which he will submit for approval of the committee and the national commission of fine arts at Washington.

"The head which was carved out of the rock by my predecessor," he said, "will be eliminated. There will be no more of it."

LUKEMAN NAMED AS NEW SCULPTOR FOR BIG MEMORIAL

New Yorker, Native of Virginia, Is Appointed Successor to Gutzon Borglum—Accepts.

ATTEMPT TO DELAY ACTION DEFEATED

Venable's Request for Arbitration by Dixie Governors Ignored—Borglum Issues Statement.

Augustus Lukeman, New York sculptor, who was born in Richmond, Thursday was engaged as the sculptor of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial to succeed Gutzon Borglum, whose contract with the association was cancelled February 25. Mr. Borglum, who is in Raleigh, N. C., working on new models for the Stone Mountain memorial, stated that he was "delighted" with the action of the association. "Their act now brings to the south the final responsibility and her own duty," he is quoted in Associated Press dispatches as saying. "She, and she alone, must now decide whether the memorial is to be an honor or a dishonor."

The executive committee of the association met Thursday morning and ratified a contract whose terms previously had been worked out in conferences with Mr. Lukeman. The board of directors met immediately after the executive committee session and approved its action.

Named by Subcommittee.

Mr. Lukeman was selected by a subcommittee appointed for the purpose of selecting and recommending a new sculptor on the same day the contract was canceled with Mr. Borglum. On the subcommittee were Colonel W. L. Peel, Robert F. Maddox, Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, Bolling H. Jones and G. F. Willis.

In a statement concerning Mr. Lukeman and his standing and qualifications, issued by the executive committee, it was stated that "he was selected from a large number of sculptors of first rank, whose services could be secured; that his recommendations and credentials were satisfactory in every way; that his past performance and professional conduct, is above question."

The executive committee's action was unanimous and was taken in thirty minutes. The board of directors discussed an hour and a half a motion by Dr. Plato Durham and Dr. M. Ashby Jones to postpone two weeks the selection of a new sculptor in the hope of reconciling the association's differences with Mr. Borglum. The final vote of the board was 28 to 0 in favor of ratifying the contract with Mr. Lukeman, after defeating Dr. Jones' substitute motion.

Will Pay $25,000.

It is planned to pay Mr. Lukeman $25,000 upon completion of all his models for the memorial, the sum of $1,000 to be paid upon signing the contract and a percentage of the remaining $24,000 to be paid upon completion of the first or miniature model. Upon completion of the models, he will be paid $10,000 a year to serve in a supervisory capacity over stonecutters who will receive granite according to his specifications and designs.

At the meeting of the executive committee Thursday, Mrs. Walter of the donors of the scrap of the mountain, in which he requested the executive committee to call a conference of governors of the thirteen southern states and place the matter

Irate 'Rum Hound' Stampedes Bulls, Bears in 'Heart of Gold'

POLICE RIOT SQUAD CALLED TO SUBDUCE BRUTE

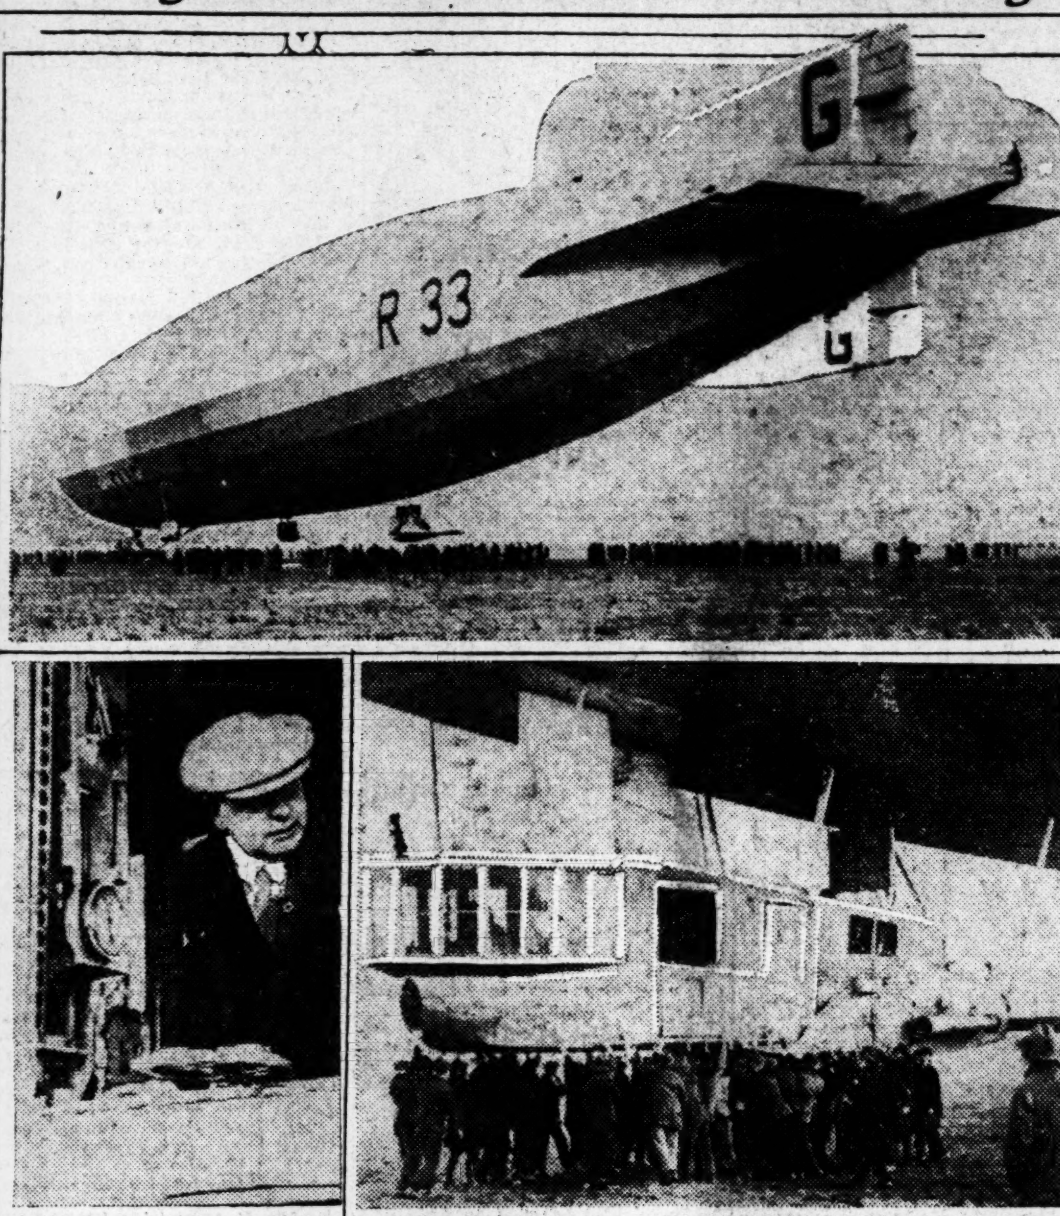

New York, April 16.—A large Italian bulldog, a rum-hound as the police identified him later, ambled down Broad street, one of the main arteries of America's "heart of gold," Thursday afternoon and the doctory financiers of the district who quail not before bulls and bears, were frightened into a stampede.

The intentions of the dog may have been friendly but his face was all against him if he were, so he was finally surrounded by a hurry-up tail of police, spanked over the skull with a black-jack, lassoed, tossed into a street-cleaner's wagon and hauled away to the canine psychopathic ward maintained by the S. P. C. A., where dogs are kept under observation as to their sanity or madness.

It was Broad street's worst scare since the bomb went off at the corner of Broad and Wall. And now that the dog has been locked away, the people who ran from him wonder

Dirigible Which Broke From Moorings

Above is shown British R-33, monster dirigible, which a gale drove from moorings last Thursday morning. Preparations are under way to send the R-33 on a flight from England to India and Australia to blaze a trail for the R-101, which, when completed, will be the largest dirigible in the world. It is planned to use the R-101 in regular passenger and mail service over this route. The R-33, its control car, and Major F. R. Scott, director of flying operations, are shown.

OFFICERS SEARCH HOME OF COLEMAN BUT DRAW BLANK

Evident Activity on Part of Detectives Veiled in Deepest Secrecy Thursday.

Search of the home of O. M. Coleman, 210 Spring street, bank messenger of the Farmers and Traders' bank, continued denials on the part of the accused and "evident activity" carefully veiled in secrecy—on the part of city detectives filled Thursday's program in the unraveling of clues in the $19,000 bank messenger robbery Tuesday morning.

"My deepest regret is for the number of friends and relatives this thing is dragging through the mire with me," young Coleman declared from his cell Thursday afternoon, following news of the searching of his home. "Even the clearing of my name—which is bound to come—cannot compensate for the embarrassment it has caused them."

The search of detectives only serves to strengthen the evidence in my son's favor," Mrs. J. D. Coleman, mother of the bank messenger, declared. "When they arrived I was preparing to visit my boy and I turned the house over to them. And they certainly overlooked nothing—going through each of the 19 rooms and even searching the trunks of my boarders."

Hearing Today Probable.

Lieutenant of Detectives T. O. Sturdivant returned to police station shortly before 6 o'clock, after eight hours of continuous work on the case, but refused to commit himself on the amount or kind of evidence gathered during the day. He did state, however, that the case would probably go before the grand jury this morning. The lieutenant was in conference with Solicitor General John Boykin earlier in the day at which time evi-

Runaway Dirigible Is Under Control After Wild Flight

Atlanta Seen As Leading Air Port of Dixie

Committee Is Named To Ask Aid of Georgia Congressmen.

Visions of Atlanta as one of the world's leading air ports were painted at a meeting at city hall Thursday night, called in the interests of aviation, and first steps in making those visions realities were taken.

More than 50 men and women, all interested in placing Atlanta on the map from an aerial standpoint, attended, and all were enthused with prospects for putting plans into execution in the near future.

Two Committees Named.

A committee was named to confer as soon as possible with Georgia representatives in congress in an attempt to have Atlanta placed on at least one of the air mail routes, establishment of which now is being considered by the government, and another committee was named to appear before the public works committee of the county commissions at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon to urge that the county do what grading is necessary to place the municipal airplane landing field, formerly Candler field, in condition for general use.

Mayor Walter A. Sims, who was named permanent chairman, briefly sketched plans which have been laid out to forward the movement to make Atlanta the air center of the south, and urged everyone to get behind the move in every way possible.

Alderman W. B. Hartsfield, chairman of the committee in charge of operating the field, announced that a topographic survey has been made, and stated that the necessary grading can be done for approximately $5,000. Nothing, however, can be done toward improving the field until it has been graded.

Will Ask County Aid.

Mayor Sims then named the following committee to appear before the county commissions this afternoon to press the request of city council that the county grade the field: Alderman Hartsfield, Mrs. Norman Sharp, Mrs. Carl F. Hutchison, V. H. Krieger, and Henderson Hallman.

Mr. Hallman, who also is a member of the committee in charge of the field, said that the government now is planning to establish mail routes in all parts of the country. "Atlanta is practically the only large city not prepared to offer the government a landing field," he said. "However, as soon as Candler field, which recently was leased by the city, is graded, we will have a field second to none."

"Within a few years Atlanta probably will be on several routes. This city does a large business with Chicago, and should be on a route established from that city to Florida."

CATHEDRAL AT SOFIA BOMBED AT FUNERAL FOR SLAIN GENERAL

Colorful Crowd of 16,000 Sees Gaiety Prevails on Season's First Baseball Holiday Crackers Down Foe in Opener

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

It's back again, the gladsome crack of the bat against the ball, and more than 16,000 Atlanta fans Thursday greeted the plunk of the hit and the thud of the mitt with great symphonies of shouts and cries of glee when the Crackers jimmied the 1925 home season open with an 8-to-1 victory over Chattanooga in the most colorful opening day ever witnessed here.

It was a wonderful day, a stupendous day, a glorious day, and day of color, laughter, animation and happiness for the mighty throngs that surged in huge billows over the stands, bleachers and playing field and cheered themselves hoarse when the home team heroes smashed their way to victory over the formidable Lookouts and sunk their spikes firmly into the earth for their long climb toward winning the Southern league championship confalon this year. Colors, colors, colors, everywhere.

and of every hue waved and shimmered in every nook and cranny of the Ponce de Leon arena; in the bright scarfs, the flashing frocks, the glimmering gowns and the heterogeneous hats of the fair vipers in the bat-lands, neckties, handkerchiefs and hosiery of the men. There was color in the cheeks of the men and women glowing with health in the great out-looks as they enjoyed the first big baseball holiday of the year.

Life and Action Prevail.

From time the first ticket holder clicked through the turnstiles until the last spectator shambled out of the stands in the approaching dusk there was life and action present everywhere. The picturesque characters of the grand old national game, the stolid players, the roaring stands, the raucous cries of the drink boys, the stentorian tones of the umpires all lent their portion to swell the ensemble.

INFERNAL MACHINE KILLS AND INJURES MANY AT SERVICES

Number of Dead Not Yet Ascertained—Governmental Ministers, Who Were Present, Unhurt.

FOLLOWS ATTACK UPON KING BORIS

Campaign of Terror Believed To Precede Attempt To Overthrow Monarchy.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Sofia, Bulgaria, April 16.—Many persons were killed and injured today by the explosion of an infernal machine in the cathedral during the funeral services for General Georgiev, who was murdered Tuesday.

The cathedral in which the services were being held was the Sveti Kral (the Saint King). The explosion of the bomb killed several persons and wounded many others, but the governmental ministers who were present were unhurt.

Follows Attack on Boris.

An attempt was made Tuesday to assassinate King Boris, of Bulgaria, as he was motoring near Sofia and the king narrowly escaped death. That night General Georgiev was assassinated in the streets of the capital. These attacks were the culmination of a long series of disturbances which have distressed the country and developed into a national crisis.

Georgiev was one of the leaders in the 1923 revolution, which overthrew the Stamboulsky government. The plot was carried out by reserve officers who were assisted by the active army. Stamboulsky, who had headed an agrarian ministry, fled from Sofia after his overthrow on June 9, 1923, but was captured by a few days later by troops and was shot and killed when a party of peasants attempted to rescue him.

Documents Are Seized.

In the last few days, the authorities announced they had seized documents showing an armed revolt was planned for this spring. Communists and anarchists have been reported to be unusually active.

These dispatches stated that the revolution was to start in northwest Bulgaria April 15—yesterday. According to the plan as reported, a campaign of assassination was to be carried out and every effort was to be made to establish a soviet republic. Acts of sabotage were to be directed against the railroads and bridges, buildings and telegraphs and telephone lines were to be crippled or destroyed.

Vengeance Is Dramatic.

When the Macedonian revolutionary organization's intellectual chief, Professor Nicola Mileff, was assassinated last February, the organization swore vengeance. The method to get it was dramatic. This morning the dead body of a man known under the name of Mileff was found in a street at the exact spot where Mileff fell. Pinned to the body was the statement that the organization had slain Mileff as he was Mileff's murderer.

There was also a facsimile letter purporting to have been written by Mileff, confessing to the crime and killed Professor Mileff and giving details of the act.

SENATOR WHEELER PAINLEVE CABINET PLACED ON TRIAL FINALLY FORMED BEFORE U. S. JURY TO RULE FRANCE

Land Office Official First Witness To Testify; Surprise Witness Promised by Prosecution.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Great Falls, Mont., April 16.—A jury was completed and taking of evidence was begun today at the opening session of the trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, in federal district court here. He is charged with accepting a fee for prosecuting claims for a client before the department of the interior.

Announcement that the government had a surprise witness, an attorney, was made by District Attorney John L. Slattery in his opening statement to the jury.

W. E. Bennett, register of the land office here, the first witness, identified records from his office relating to permits involved in the case. The books were admitted as evidence, over the objections of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, chief of defense counsel.

Jury Selected.

The jury was selected in three hours. The defense exercised six of its ten peremptory challenges.

The jury was put under surveillance tonight on orders by Federal Judge Frank S. Dietrich, who is presiding. Two deputy marshals were put under a special oath to allow no one to communicate with the jury.

Mr. Slattery declared the surprise witness would be called to show that he had been approached by Senator Wheeler, in Washington, and asked to appear before the interior department for Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, to prosecute Campbell's oil prospecting applications.

Mr. Slattery said he would show that the senator had asked the lawyer to appear in the Campbell case in his place.

Mr. Slattery said his witness would testify that Wheeler declared the value of permits mentioned in the conversation involved millions of dollars and that any fees due as a result of the appearance before the interior department would be divided between Wheeler and the attorney.

The prosecutor also said he would produce a "mass" of documentary evidence intended to show that Wheeler appeared for Campbell before the Caillaux To Be Minister of Finance, With Free Hand; Briand Will Be Foreign Minister.

Paris, April 17.—Paul Painleve has formed his cabinet, which will include Aristide Briand and Joseph Caillaux.

Painleve has taken the premiership and the ministry of war in the new cabinet. Aristide Briand will become foreign minister; Caillaux, minister of finance; and Charles Chautemps, minister of commerce.

Louis Loucheur, to whom Painleve had offered the post of minister of commerce, has refused to join the cabinet. He was replaced by M. Chautemps.

New Cabinet Members.

The new cabinet, as officially announced, is as follows:

Premier and minister of war, Paul Painleve.

Foreign affairs, Aristide Briand.

Finance, Joseph Caillaux.

Justice and vice president of the cabinet, Jules Steeg; public instruction, Anatole de Monzie; interior, Senator A. Cehrameck; commerce, Charles Chautemps; marine, Emile Borel; colonies, Andre Hesse; agriculture, Jean Durand; public works, Pierre Laval; labor, Antoine Duranfort; devastated regions, Pierre Deyris; pensions, Louis Antier.

Outlines His Policies.

"I have conferred with Director Robinet, of the Bank of France, and with the directors of the chief credit establishments," Caillaux told reporters. "They detailed to me the general economic situation. My program consists of budgetary economies and democratic fiscal projects."

Replying to a question regarding what he had learned from the bankers, Caillaux replied:

"I never take financial advice from financiers."

The intra-cabinet storm Thursday beat about Caillaux, but with the coming of nightfall, the objections to Caillaux by his prospective fellow ministers had been dropped. Thus the formation of the cabinet was assured.

Because Caillaux, the late exile and outcast, is the dominating figure in the new cabinet, his views will be reflected to some extent both in the foreign and domestic policies of the new government. During the past 24 hours Caillaux and Briand wrangled about financial and foreign problems. Both

240,000 Preventable Deaths Yearly Due To 'Americanitis'

HIGH TENSION, TERRIFIC DRIVE HELD RESPONSIBLE

Chicago, April 16.—"Americanitis" is causing 240,000 preventable deaths yearly in this country, Dr. William S. Sadler, nationally known physician, asserted today in condemning "the high tension and terrific drive of our daily life."

The statement was made in a report of the Gorgas Memorial institute, which claimed confirmation for the first time of "the hitherto only suspected fact" that more Americans are dying from heart disease, Bright's disease, apoplexy and high blood pressure than from any other white people.

"Americanitis" is the name Dr. Sadler applied to the whole group of conditions which he believes responsible for "needless loss of life."

"The hurry, bustle and incessant drive of the American temperament is responsible for this peculiar and characteristic American mortality increase during the 'dangerous age' period between 40 and 50 years" reported Dr. Sadler, whose conclusions are based on more than 20 years' study of the death rate among men and women subjected to high pressure living.

"This distinctly American phenomenon can be remedied only by reducing the public that heart disease, Bright's disease, apoplexy and high blood pressure can be checked, and at least 60 per cent of the 400,000 such deaths prevented by proper medical advice in the early stages when these diseases are practically symptomless."

"Such breakdowns as we read of will continue until men know how to live. An inordinate ambition to forge ahead has driven many a man to his grave years ahead of his time. "Two things are necessary to cope with the situation. The first is a yearly health audit. A second is a change in living habits of most Americans. They must slow down their bodies and calm their nerves."

EDUCATION BOARD PLAYED BY MAYOR

Continuation of his attacks on the board of education by Mayor Walter

A. Sims, predicting that unless financial control of the schools reverts to city council a tax increase will be necessary, together with two "last resort" plans proposed by Commissioner W. C. Slate to obtain funds for building a new unit for Hoke Smith Junior High school, marked Thursday's developments in the school situation.

"Present conditions of the school department are unbearable," the chief executive said, and some steps must be taken to change them. At present, the board of education has not enough money to meet payrolls even through November, and it appears certain that the money apportioned by the commission for other items will not be enough to continue operation throughout the year.

Through With Financing.
"I am absolutely through trying to finance the school department, and I will only borrow money if it is absolutely necessary to keep the schools open. Construction of a unit for Hoke Smith High school may be a necessity, but it certainly is not important enough to warrant closing of the entire school system. If we must borrow money for any purpose, it will be to keep the schools open."

"As long as financial control of the schools remains where it is, I can see no possible solution of the matter. However, the people will have an opportunity to decide in June whether or not council will have a check on expenditures of the school department. If the public decides to keep things as they are, I can see no way of raising the necessary funds except through an increase in taxes, and a vote against the proposal of the referendum is tantamount to a vote for a higher tax rate."

Tax Hike Only Way.
"I always have opposed a tax increase, and always will, but I can see no other way of raising money for the school department if the board keeps on spending at the present rate. In the past five years operating expenses of the school department have more than doubled, and the city's population certainly has not increased in that proportion. This year we gave the schools more than $3,000,000, in addition to repaying a $350,000 loan, and another $101,000 for free textbooks. Even so, we find ourselves without enough money to meet pay rolls even through November.

Slate's Two Plans.
Following announcement of the mayor's refusal to carry on further negotiations for a loan of $150,000 to raise funds for the new building at Hoke Smith, W. C. Slate, commissioner from the second ward, who has been a leader in the fight for a new building since its start, explained two plans by which the board, as a last resort, might obtain the necessary money.

Appropriation of current funds to obtain the money probably will be the first attempted, Mr. Slate said. However, such action would increase the large deficit which it is certain the board of education will face at the end of the year, and would make it impossible, unless additional funds are secured from some source, to operate throughout the year.

While all members of the board are united in the desire to raise money for the new building, it is understood that the more conservative element will oppose appropriation of current funds for a new school building.

Will Insist on Action.
"If the mayor does not help us out by borrowing the money, I will insist that the board appropriate a sufficient fund to build the new school from current operating revenue," Mr. Slate said. "I believe that as a last resort, the board will adopt this plan."

"However, if that fails, we may ask a number of public-spirited citizens to underwrite the necessary amount on the moral pledge that the board will pay the money in 1928. I know of several prominent citizens who would be willing to assist us in that way."

The mayor declined to make further comment when told of the proposals. Both John T. Hancock, president of the board of education, and Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, were absent from the city council session, and other school authorities declined to commit themselves.

ORPHANS' WELFARE PLAN OF MASONS COMES UP TONIGHT

The third meeting of the Masonic Home club of the fifth district will be held in the temple of Capitol View Masonic lodge, Stewart and Dill avenues, at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The organization will be finally perfected at this meeting.

This club has for its object the welfare of the Masonic Orphans' home at Macon. At a recent meeting the following officers were named: W. H. Pool, president; T. J. Weaver, eldest vice president; J. P. Power, secretary; and W. S. Richardson, treasurer. Representatives from each Masonic lodge in the fifth district were elected and it is intended to have several representatives from other bodies affiliated with the Masonic fraternity.

At a meeting held on March 20, representatives of the grand lodge of Georgia, the grand chapter and the grand chapter of the Eastern Star were present and voiced hearty approval of the organization.

Mrs. Martha Thomas Dies Thursday Night After Long Sickness

Mrs. Martha O. Thomas, 83, wife of the late Colonel George S. Thomas, a Confederate veteran, died Thursday night at the residence, 46 Capitol avenue, after an illness of several years.

Mrs. Thomas was born in Griffin, Ga., in 1842 and received her education there. She was a daughter of the late Judge James H. Stock. In 1859 she was married to Colonel Thomas, of Atlanta. Mrs. Thomas had resided at the same Capitol avenue address since coming to this city. She was a member of St. Philip's cathedral and was active in church affairs.

She is survived by two sons, Stock Thomas and George S. Thomas, of Atlanta; a sister, Mrs. Mary K. Campbell, two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Jennie Skidley, of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. James H. Stock, and eight grandchildren. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

be five chief figures in the central group—Lee, Jackson, Davis and two other generals yet to be selected. There will also be a colorbearer.

Hall of Fame.
"At the base of the mountain beneath the memorial, there will be a hall of fame. It will be a circular hall with 13 columns. Between the columns entablatures will tell the story of the memorial in five languages—English, French, German, Greek and Latin—so that future generations at whatever language they speak will be able to read. The hall of fame will be approached by flights of steps, each step representing a state in the union."

Mr. Lukeman said that the memorial association is in good financial condition, having $500,000 now available. The sale of special memorial coins, he said, is expected to yield a profit of $2,500,000.

While he would not comment on the controversy between Mr. Borglum and the memorial committee, Mr. Lukeman brought with him a pamphlet printed by the committee giving the reason for dismissing Borglum, stating that "the monument could never have been built with him."

NEW SCULPTOR

AUGUSTUS LUKEMAN

Who will succeed Gutzon Borglum in charge of work on Stone Mountain Memorial to Confederacy.

LUKEMAN NAMED AS NEW SCULPTOR

Grace, of Macon, president of the Georgia division of United Daughters of the Confederacy and a director of the association, read a communication from Gutzon Borglum, president of the association and Mr. Borglum in their hands. He called attention to the fact that under the contract he had made with the association, only three years remain in which to complete the memorial; that a grant of additional land will be necessary to complete even the central group, and that the carrying must be done according to plans and specifications of Gutzon Borglum.

Committee Statement.
The executive committee's statement concerning the new sculptor is as follows:

"Immediately after the cancellation of the association with the former sculptor, the executive committee appointed a subcommittee to select and recommend a new sculptor to carry on the work. The subcommittee consisted of Colonel William L. Peel, chairman; Robert F. Maddox, Bolling H. Jones, Mrs. Samuel M. Luman and G. F. Willis. Full announcement was made in the press of the appointment and personnel of the subcommittee.

"In a few days the subcommittee had before them the names of a large number of sculptors of top rank and standing whose services could be secured.

Surveyed Whole Field.
"They surveyed the whole field, examined carefully the qualifications and credentials of all sculptors before them, brought several sculptors to Atlanta to examine their work. Stone Mountain, conferred freely and frequently with other members of the executive committee, and selected and recommended Augustus Lukeman, one of the foremost sculptors of America, which selection was approved and ratified by the executive committee and confirmed by the board of directors.

"In view of the great public interest in the memorial and the importance of selecting a sculptor of outstanding qualifications to carry it on, it is appropriate to give the public full information regarding Mr. Lukeman.

"He was born in Richmond, Va., the capital of the Confederacy; he is 54 years of age, in the prime of health and creative power; he stands in the front rank of his profession; credentials and recommendations concerning his work and personal character came from the highest sources and were satisfactory in every way.

"Mr. Lukeman is a member of the National Sculpture society, which is his profession, and the American Bar association is to the profession of law, or the American Medical association is to the profession of medicine. He was formerly secretary and a member of the council of the society. At present he is the society's delegate to the Fine Arts federation, which is composed of all the art societies of New York, including sculptors, painters, illustrators, architects, etc. He was formerly vice president of the Architectural League of New York. He is a member of the Virginia Historical society, a charter member of the National Arts club and an associate of the American Institute of Arts and Letters.

"Mr. Lukeman began his education for sculpture as a boy 11 years old, when he secured employment in the studio of Launt Thompson, a noted sculptor of New York. He attended school in school hours, worked in the studio after school hours, and attended art school at night. He learned bronze casting in a bronze foundry as an apprentice and a molder. He learned granite carving by mastering the trade and working at it. With his earnings he paid his way through the National Academy of Design of New York and a course in architecture at Columbia university.

"When the World's fair at Chicago was under construction, Mr. Lukeman went there as an art student and obtained employment in the studio of Daniel Chester French, the renowned sculptor, who had charge of the sculpture of the fair. He rose to the important position of studio foreman for Mr. French and had under him a studio force of more than a hundred men. His experience and training gained in that position were of the greatest value, especially in modeling colossal figures. He saved enough from his earnings to go to Paris and take the course in sculpture in the great Ecole des Beaux Arts.

"While there he attracted the attention and was made a special pupil of Falguiere, the great French sculptor, who was an officer of the Ecole des Beaux Arts, and studied under him.

"On returning to New York, Mr. Lukeman renewed his acquaintance with Daniel Chester French and was given a position in Mr. French's studio, where he rose to a place as the noted sculptor's associate, and was with him upwards of 10 years.

"Among the many recommendations presented in behalf of Mr. Lukeman by high authorities, none was stronger than that of Mr. French, the sculptor of the great Lincoln memorial in Washington and many other famous works, and a dean of the profession in America.

"Mr. French is 75 years of age and is accepting very few commissions. He was invited to associate himself with the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial in the capacity of consultant. He replied as follows:

Tribute to Sculptor.
"I do not consider that it is necessary for a sculptor of Mr. Lukeman's standing and ability to be supervised by another sculptor. He is entirely competent to execute the work assigned to him. I trust and believe that your association will conclude to award this commission to Mr. Lukeman."

"Mr. Lukeman's qualifications, standing, past performance and personal character were investigated thoroughly and conclusively, both by correspondence and in person by members of the committee who went to New York for that purpose.

"Mr. Lukeman has to his credit many very important works of sculpture, distributed over the country, notable among them being the following:

"Statues of William McKinley, for Adams, Mass., and Dayton, Ohio.
"Marble statue of Mann, the Indian lawgiver, for the appellate division of the supreme court, New York.
"Colossal marble statue of Christopher Columbus for the United States custom house, New York city.
"Four colossal statues in granite for the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, representing Moses, Isaiah, David and St. Paul.
"Four colossal statues in marble for the Royal Bank of Canada, Montreal.

"Monument in bronze to Union soldiers for Somerville, Mass.
"Other of His Works.
"Statue of Professor Joseph Henry for Princeton university.
"Equestrian statue in bronze of Kit Carson for Trinidad, Col. Va.
"Equestrian statue of General Gregg, commander of the Union cavalry at Gettysburg, for Reading, Pa.
"Statue in bronze of Franklin Pierce, fourteenth president of the United States, in front of the state capitol of New Hampshire.

"St. Grant memorial, for San Diego, Calif.
"Memorial to women of the Confederacy, at Raleigh, N. C.
"Strauss memorial fountain, New York city.
"Monument to General William Shepard, Westfield, Mass.

"Memorial to Brooklyn soldiers who died in world war, in Prospect Park, Brooklyn.
"Memorial to 'The Retiring Doughboy' in Red Hook park, Brooklyn.

"Statues in bronze commemorating American aviators in world war, shortly to be unveiled in Washington, D. C., and Wheeling, W. Va.
"Equestrian statue of Bishop Francis Asbury, the great Methodist pioneer, in Washington, D. C.

"Mr. Lukeman is now making a colossal bronze group commemorating American World war soldiers, sailors and aviators, for Pittsfield, Massachusetts.

Great Equestrian Statue.
"One of Mr. Lukeman's finest pieces of work is the equestrian statue of Bishop Asbury in Washington. It was made for the Francis Asbury Memorial association, composed of all the Methodist bodies of the United States and Canada. It has been pronounced by numerous competent authorities as one of the finest equestrian statues in the world. The secretary of the Asbury Memorial association wrote a letter stating that their dealings with Mr. Lukeman were satisfactory and agreeable in every way, that he faithfully and promptly performed his contract and that he threw off $5,000 of his contract price for the work as a personal contribution.

"Another fine piece of work by Mr. Lukeman is the Strauss memorial fountain in New York, which he won in open competition in which many sculptors participated.

"Mr. Lukeman's reputation as a sculptor and his standing in his profession are firmly established on what he has actually done and how he has conducted himself; also what is equally as important) upon honorable and faithful performance of his contracts.

"Mr. Lukeman has agreed to go to work at once upon his model for the central group and his plan for the memorial hall, which when finished will be submitted to the association for approval. Also he has given this assurance that he will devote himself to the Stone Mountain memorial until it is completed."

Venable's Letter.
Mr. Venable's letter to the executive committee, read by Mrs. Grace at the meeting Thursday, follows in full:

"President Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial association, Board of Directors Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial association, Atlanta, Georgia.
"Gentlemen: I am informed that the directors' meeting was called today to confirm the selection of a new sculptor to take up the work of Mr. Gutzon Borglum on Stone Mountain. This means that a handful of men have elected to act for some millions of people who must contribute the money to build this memorial.

"It is a step that should not be taken by you in the light of the deplorable events of the past few weeks that have made us the talk of two continents. This matter should be passed upon by southern gentlemen outside of Atlanta who are free from personal bias. It is the only just course for you to pursue.

"I have done everything in my power to harmonize this tragic situation and now, as a last appeal, I am asking you to call a conference of the governors of the 13 southern states—whom we have ignored hitherto—and place the matter in their hands for arbitration.

"Should you refuse to do this, it is my duty to call your attention to the following facts in order that no innocent, or misinformed sculptor may be led into signing a contract that he may not hope to carry out, and a contract that your association knows it would be illegal to participate in: 'You have only three years to complete the contract under the deed given you.'

"The carving of the central group is now within ten feet of the extreme line and only three of the seven figures of the central group have been outlined:
"Your deed calls for one thousand feet, not fifteen hundred feet as your president states. The deed also states that the carving is to be done according to the plans, specifications and designs of Mr. Gutzon Borglum.
"Respectfully,
"S. H. VENABLE.
"Atlanta, Ga., April 16, 1925."

CHURCH ORCHESTRA IN CONCERT TONIGHT
A concert will be given tonight at 8 o'clock by the orchestra of the Central Presbyterian church in the Sunday school auditorium, under the leadership of W. Whitty, tubist.

The program will include numbers from Offenbach, Glyss, Walt, Strauss, Zamecni, Schubert, Paderewski, Yradier and Liszt, and solo numbers by William Myhan. The concert will be given free of any charge, and the public is invited to attend.

BORGLUM DECLARES HE IS 'DELIGHTED'
Harris, N. C., April 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—When advised today of the appointment of Augustus Lukeman as his successor as sculptor of the Stone Mountain memorial, Gutzon Borglum declared that he was "delighted."

"I am delighted," he said. "Their act now brings to the south the final responsibility, and her own duty. She, and she alone, must now decide whether the memorial is to be an honor or a dishonor."

The sculptor said that he had been apprised last night by telephone from friends in Atlanta of the impending announcement.

"I am delighted," he said. "Their act now brings to the south the final responsibility, and her own duty. She, and she alone, must now decide whether the memorial is to be an honor or a dishonor."

The sculptor was working on models of the Stone Mountain memorial when informed of the association's action. These models, when completed, will be turned over to a committee which will hold them in trust until the Daughters of the Confederacy has elected a sculptor, approved by the committee to complete the memorial. Mr. Borglum said.

MARY RUTH ROUNTREE REPRESENTS TWELFTH DISTRICT

In State Oratorical Contest

Mary Ruth Rountree, a student of Emanuel County Institute, will represent the twelfth district in the state oratorical contest to be held in the house of representatives at the state capitol at 8 o'clock next Thursday night. In the original announcement of the winners she was credited to Summit Institute. This is not quite correct, Emanuel County Institute being located halfway between Graymont and Summit and its correct address being Summit-Graymont, Ga.

Miss Rountree will compete with 11 other high-school boys and girls, each the winner in one of the Georgia districts, for the honor of representing Georgia in the national oratorical contest this year, and for prizes offered by the Constitution in the state contest. First prize is $100 in gold and the second prize $20. In addition, the two winners will receive tickets to the Metropolitan Opera company's performance of "Metastase" on Friday night next. These tickets are given by H. C. Thorburn, president of Karnak, Inc., as a mark of his interest in this movement to encourage the study of the fundamentals of American government among the school students of the state.

The subject, on which the contestants have prepared their original orations all deal with the federal constitution. Each contestant is limited to 10 minutes' time for delivery. The judges will be Associate Justices H.

Warner Hill, Marcus W. Beck and S. Price Gilbert. Governor Clifford Walker will preside.

The winner will go to Nashville on May 1 to compete with the winners from Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama and Tennessee for the championship of this zone, and the zonal winner will meet winners from six other zones in the national championship finals at Washington, D. C., on May 8. For the national finals the American Bar association will give seven prizes ranging from $2,000 for first place to $300 for seventh. The contest is sponsored in part by "The Constitution" and the State High School association and nationally by the American Bar association.

In addition to Miss Rountree of the twelfth, the other 11 contestants on Thursday next will be Frank Skinner, Waynesboro High, first district; Lillian Johnson, Albany High, second; Hugh Gibson, Plains High, third; Audrey Lauderdale, LaGrange High, fourth; Helen Brail, Atlanta Girls' High, fifth; Paul Vallenweider, Fayetteville High, sixth; Lucy Sloan, Rome High, seventh; Albert G. Richards, Jr., Athens High, eighth; Fielding Russell, Winder High, ninth; Lynn Smith, tenth, and Bernard Nightingale, Brunswick High, eleventh.

Baths are being installed beneath King's Crossway station in London for the use of passengers.

CONSTRUCTION BEGINS

ON HUMANE HOSPITAL

Plans have been made by the Atlanta Humane society to build a modern shelter and animal hospital, which also will afford office quarters for the organization. Construction work has begun at 1031 Marietta street, from money which has been donated voluntarily.

The structure will be equipped with cages for dogs and cats and a modern operating room. Much of the material is being contributed by Atlanta building concerns. It was explained Thursday that while the Humane society is one of the institutions which receives funds from the Community Chest, these funds can be used for maintenance only and that all money used in the construction work must come from voluntary sources.

Dr. H. W. Burkland, veterinary surgeon, has been named as humane officer and field agent for the society, and will be in charge of operations at the Marietta street headquarters upon its completion.

Members of School

Board Are Cleared

Of Bribery Charges

Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, member of the board of education, was the sixth ward, in a statement issued Thursday, cleared all board members of the taint of bribery charges, which she stated at the board meeting Tuesday, had been made by Miss Elizabeth Hanna, chairman of the library committee of the Atlanta U. D. C. chapter.

Mrs. Nelson said Thursday that Miss Hanna has told her since Thursday's meeting that she did not mean in any way to reflect on any book agents nor on any members of the board of education.

Miss Hanna also has stated that when a private letter written by her possibly might be construed as stated by Mrs. Nelson Tuesday, it was not her intention to bring any such charges against any book agents or board members.

The statements grew out of a discussion at the board meeting which preceded adoption of the Gurdy history for use in Atlanta's junior high schools. At that time Mrs. Nelson said that Miss Hanna previously had charged that members of the board had accepted bribes to vote for the Gurdy publication.

Mrs. Nelson's statement.

Following is Mrs. Nelson's statement: "I wish to say that I distinctly stated at the board meeting of April 14 that I did not charge any board member or any book agent with bribery, but I quoted from a newspaper article written by a well-known Atlanta woman which referred to boards of education accepting bribes, which I construed to mean the Atlanta board, and she admitted this construction was natural, but now states that she did not intend to reflect upon the Atlanta board of education. Furthermore, I have absolutely no evidence that any member of the board has ever accepted any bribe. I have the utmost friendliness and esteem for every member of the board of education of Atlanta.

"In the newspaper article above referred to and quoted by me at the Atlanta board meeting on April 14, there was no mention made of the Gurdy history or Charles Scribner's Sons. There was further no inference intended that Charles Scribner's Sons, Mr. Samuel Adams or Mr. J. A. Dillebeck offered directly or indirectly a bribe to any member of the Atlanta board of education. I am glad to state that I have no personal knowledge of the representatives of the Gurdy book having used any undue influence or bribery with any member of the Atlanta board of education."

GAS, TAX REVENUE

The state's revenue from gasoline taxes was approximately $150,000 less during the first quarter of 1925 than it was for the last quarter of 1924, representing a decrease in the Georgia sales of gasoline for the three-month period of about 5,000,000 gallons.

The figures on gasoline sales receipts for the quarter were made public Thursday by D. B. Harrison, chief clerk in the comptroller general's office. The only opinion Mr. Harrison advanced to account for this sharp drop was that the high price of gasoline in this state was probably causing the public to economize and buy as little of the fuel oil as possible.

It has been customary in the past for the first quarter's receipts to show a slight falling off from the last quarter of the preceding year, but the difference has been hardly noticeable, the both quarters being classed as cold periods of the year when automobiles are less used than in the second and third quarters.

The price of gasoline at filling stations during the greater part of the third quarter of 1924 was 21 cents, while for the greater portion of the new year the price has been 27 cents. Mr. Harrison said that dealers had told him that the falling off was due to the high price, as people are either leaving their cars at home or buying merely for their immediate needs, hoping for an early reduction in price.

THE "ADVERTISED" SALE

CLOSING OUT! SELLING OUT! GETTING OUT!

(C. J. Clark, Advertising)

UNDOUBTEDLY you have read sale advertisements of all sorts in which merchants have tried to make you believe a great many statements that you have accepted with a grain of salt.

You have read advertisements that told you through the mild weather their store was overloaded with goods and consequently they were going to cut the heart out of prices; others have told you that some big manufacturer got stuck for money and has shipped hundreds of cases of merchandise to this merchant with orders to sell regardless of cost, loss or profit.

We also noticed an advertisement some time ago in one of the big cosmopolitan cities where a clothing merchant advertised that his dearest friend in the world, old Benjamin, had died. He was so heartbroken over the loss of Benjamin that he was going to put on a sale and get out of business, as he had no ambition to continue further. Upon investigation it was found that poor old Benjamin was the family dog.

TRUTH IS MOTTO.

Now we are free to admit that we have never owned a Benjamin; neither are we going to make you believe that you can use electric fans and bathing suits for the next three months; neither would we try to convey the impression that we are going to experience forty to sixty degrees below zero this winter.

We are not going to originate any fictitious reason for this sale; we are going to state nothing but the unvarnished truth, one hundred per cent truth. We don't have to originate any excuse because we have been selling high-class men's clothing and furnishings, and when we say we are going to have a close-out sale, that is sufficient for we have thousands of customers all over this county who know we are one hundred per cent Truth in all our work.

And that is why we have made such great preparations for this vast outpouring of merchandise. The record-breaking business which we will enjoy during the next few days will certainly put a "crimp" in our stock before many days are over.

ATLANTA AIR MAIL CLAIM CONSIDERED

Washington, April 16.—(Special.) Postmaster General New assumed the duties of Georgia, in a conference Thursday that every consideration would be given the claims of Atlanta and other cities in Georgia for the air mail extension being planned by the postoffice department.

The provisions of the law prescribe the rules and regulations by which the service may be extended. Contractors who can qualify will be given no more than four-fifths or 80 per cent of the revenue derived from the mail handled, the rates, of course, being those prescribed for air mail.

Shortly before the cabinet was announced, he spoke of internal debts and described them as one of the outstanding problems to be solved.

Briand resisted Caillaux's dominating demands, insisting that he should be independent in the realm of foreign affairs. Caillaux threatened to withdraw. If he had done so, the chance to form a stable ministry would have flickered out and a

VIADUCT MEASURE PLANS DISCUSSED

Preliminary plans for obtaining passage of a bill by the legislature this year authorizing the city to construct viaducts over railroad tracks at Central and Pryor street were made Thursday afternoon at a joint meeting of the three viaduct comtees recently appointed by Mayor Walter A. Sims.

Because of the nearness of the legislature's session it was decided to confine present energies to bringing about passage of this bill, and selection of an engineer to start work on actual plans for the twin bridges was deferred until a future meeting.

While no definite plans were laid, it was the consensus of opinion among those present that the bill to be presented to the legislature should provide that if permission to build the bridges was granted, all plans must be approved by the governor, the state public service commission, the city, lessees of the W. & A. railroad, which it owned; the city, and any other committee that the legislature may appoint.

The councilman committee is headed by Alderman W. B. Harris, and includes E. B. Arnold is chairman of the citizens' committee, and Roland Ellis, of Macon, is head of the state committee.

The importance of obtaining authority to build the bridges will not meet again until the legislature convenes. It is essential before any other expenditures of the Beeler plan of expanding downtown Atlanta can be put into effect, it was stated, and the bridges rank among the most important improvements attempted in Atlanta in the past decade.

Gossip In Hotel Lobbies

BY PAUL STEVENSON

The opening game of baseball in Atlanta is a colorful event, and has grown to be a festive occasion which draws people here from all parts of Georgia, according to Seward W.
Smith, attorney for the state highway department, who took a half day off Thursday and watched the clash of the Crackers and the tossers from Chattanooga.

"At the opening game I usually see many people from all parts of the state," he said. "People throughout Georgia pull for the Crackers all the year, but many of them seldom get an opportunity to come to Atlanta except for the opening game."

Mr. Smith is an ardent baseball fan and said this year ought to be one of the best in the history of baseball.

"Several Georgia towns are planning to put out independent teams, and some of these aggregations will rank well up with the league teams in talent," he said. "Some of the larger cities are organizing city league teams to encourage amateurs."

The capital was virtually closed
Thursday afternoon, so that employees would be given a chance to go out and help swell the attendance figures.

Fleming Resigns.
Representative Tom Fleming, of Hancock county, has tendered his resignation as a member of the legislature, and will go to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to open law offices, he stated at the Ansley Thursday.

"I surely hate to leave Georgia, but I have a better business opportunity in Florida, so I will go down there," he said. "I want to come back in June, however, and spend a week with the boys in the legislature."

Mr. Fleming is a strong supporter of the bill to abolish pistols in Georgia, and will work for its passage this summer.

"Uncle Jim" Is Visitor.
"Uncle Jim" Williams, one of the nestors of the Georgia press, is at the Kimball house.

Georgia editors are going to have a great time on their trip to New York the last part of this month," he said. "A splendid program of entertainment has been provided, and all the editors are looking forward to a wonderful time."

Dr. George A. Faulk, former member of the state industrial commission, left Atlanta Thursday for New Orleans, where he will take a postgraduate course at Tulane university in medicine. Later he will go to New York for another post-graduate course

Upon the trial, a jury found Scott guilty, and he was sentenced to hang.
Lack of funds, after his aged father, Thomas H. Scott, had pauperized himself to aid his son, for a fine seemed to prevent an appeal. His father made personal appeals to friends, and two young women, Miss Maude M. Gauthier, of Sandwich, and Miss Agnes Harmon, of Windsor,
Ont., sympathizing with the father, arranged benefit dances and bazaars which enabled attorneys to take the case to the supreme court.

MUMTAZ BEGUM TO GET 100,000 RUPEE REQUEST

Bombay, April 16.—Mumtaz Begum, the former dancing girl favorite of the Maharajah of Indore, receives a lakh (100,000) of rupees from the estate of the merchant, Abdul Kadir Baula, under a ruling handed down by the high court. Baula was mortally wounded in the fight on Malabar Hill last January when a gang attempted to seize the girl allegedly for the purpose of returning her to the royal household, from which she fled.

The high court found in favor of the will which Baula made on his illness, and which his relatives had contested on the ground that he was probably not then in a fit state to dispose of his property.

The decision, after confirming Mumtaz Begum's share, entitles Baula's mother to the residue of the estate, or about 16 lakhs of rupees.
(The rupee is normally worth a little over 32 cents.)

These happy feet are sliding over a handsome linoleum

Stone Arrives To Inspect Site of New Grand Store

A. F. Stone, president of the F. & W. Grand, five, ten and twenty-five cent stores, arrived Thursday in Atlanta and will be here for the remainder of the week, looking over the site and completing arrangements for the opening of his new store, which will be located at the corner of Hunter and Whitehall streets. His firm will spend $250,000 on the new addition to Atlanta's merchandising houses. He is registered at the Biltmore hotel.

Mr. Stone, a genial southerner, was a citizen of Bartow, Fla., for many years. In 1907 he moved to New York and opened a five and ten-cent store on Grand street.

"The growth of the concern has rivaled the growth of Atlanta itself," Mr. Stone said. From a very modest beginning, our company now owns 31 stores and is building eight others. It is expected that the total will exceed 50 before the end of the year.

"The company is capitalized at $8,500,000, and is rated as showing an increase of 21 per cent in business in 1924 over the previous year—the largest percentage of gain shown by any similar concern. For the first quarter of 1925 the gain has been 25 per cent.

Florida Woman Freed Of Charge of Stealing Her Husband's Machine

Charged with the theft of her husband's automobile, Mrs. William Thoenning, of Orlando, Fla., who has been in custody of police since Tuesday night, Thursday was released by order of Judge J. J. Holloman, who had no one appeared before the recorder for the prosecution.

Mrs. Ada Jones, of Orlando, who had been held on a blanket charge of suspicion, following her arrest in company with Mrs. Thoenning, also was released. Mrs. Thoenning protested when she was taken into custody, that the machine was equally hers, as she was the wife of her accused.

WOMAN FEIGNS SLEEP AS NEGRO ROBS HOUSE

Fearing violence from the intruder, Mrs. J. R. Patillo, 13 Fairview road, feigned sleep while a negro bandit early Thursday morning burglarized her home and escaped with several small pieces of jewelry.

As the negro left the room Mrs. Patillo awakened her husband, who pursued with his gun, but the bandit had made good his escape with the valuables. He left through a sun-parlor window.

Cleveland Loses Appeal.

Mobile, Ala., April 16.—John G. Cleveland, former member of the county board of revenue, who was convicted in the Mobile circuit court several months ago of second degree murder in connection with the death of Stephen Lossing, aged county resident, and sentenced to serve 15 years in the state prison, will have to serve his term under a decision made today by the Alabama supreme court. The court declined to review the action of the court of appeals, which on time ago affirmed the decision of the lower court.

SPEECHES FEATURE EDUCATION MEET

Macon, April 16.—More than 600 county school superintendents and school officials heard addresses this morning at Mercer university delivered by James A. Holloman, Atlanta; Dr. Charles McMurry, of Peabody college; Dr. Rufus W. Weaver, president of Mercer.

Mr. Holloman advocated the exchange of the dual system in Georgia for the school merger system which would unite city and county schools under one management.

He proposed a platform of four planks for which he said he would state before the legislature next June, if the educators would back him, and fight for with all the force at his command.

The items which he set forth would bring Georgia's educational system out of the rut it now is claimed to be in, were as follows:

1. Exchange of the dual system in Georgia counties for the merger system, which would unite city and county schools all under one management.

2. Standardization of the school terms, which he said now tended to produce the caste system among children.

3. Establishment of an equalization fund, the purpose of which would be to aid needy schools over the state.

4. The raising of funds through a specific state school bond issue for the erection of better plants when county officials will agree to match such funds dollar for dollar.

"Let's go before the legislature in June and demand that it give every boy and girl in our state an equal opportunity to get an education," he said, "I believe in the merger, not in local option. I believe every county ought to be forced to do away with the dual system and establish the merger system."

Dr. McMurry spoke on training of teachers. He declared that a good teacher paid $30 per month to do a good job was the highest form of public economy.

Dr. Weaver declared that about 4,000 new teachers were needed in the state every year, and that many of the young men and women now teaching had no intention of making a profession. The present plan of certification will elevate the profession, Dr. Weaver declared, and will reduce the number of "trousseau teachers," he said.

There were several conferences this afternoon and tonight.

MAIL LOOT DISPOSAL ADMITTED BY LAWYERS

Little Rock, Ark., April 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Frank admission by Wallace Davis, former attorney general of Arkansas, and Tom Poe, young attorney, that they had handled Liberty bonds contained in Herbert Holliday's suitcase of the Rondo mail robbery loot and confirmation of Davis' story of arrangements made for return of $78,000 worth of bonds by Major James H. Cook, Little Rock chief of detectives, featured today's sessions of the trial of Davis and Poe. The two attorneys are charged in the United States district court with aiding in secreting part of the loot of the robbery.

A feature of the cross-examination of Major Pitzer, Assistant Attorney General Dyer was a series of questions about a motion picture film contained in Holliday's baggage which showed Holliday and the four Newton brothers, all participants in the Rondo robbery, starting from a flying field at Kansas City on an airplane trip to Tulsa, Okla., shortly before the date of the robbery. This film was at one time subject of a search by postoffice inspectors.

$500,000 DEPOSITED TO REBUY PICTURES IF PRINCE WINS SUIT

New York, April 16.—Money to pay for two Rembrandt portraits, for the return of which Felix Youssouppoff, of Russia, is suing Joseph E. Widener, of Philadelphia, has been placed in a bank to be paid over if the prince wins his suit. It was announced today at the trial of the action in the supreme court. The case was adjourned to Monday after Prince Youssouppoff concluded his testimony, which had lasted almost three days, and George De Mazioroff, his business agent, had been examined.

The amount involved is 100,000 pounds, plus 8 per cent interest from August 1, 1921. Mr. Widener having paid the prince that amount for the two portraits in what the former alleges was an outright sale. The prince claims the right of purchase on the grounds that the transaction was a chattel mortgage and the pictures were security.

The first ball finally was retrieved and given to the governor who, in turn, passed it to Mayor Sims, who must have given it to the armless wonder, because it never was thrown out on the playing field.

Umpire Dan Flenninger—who must stutter when he writes his name—brought out another ball and handed it to Hugh Bent, Cracker mountaineer for the "initial hurling" of the season.

That public institution known as "Fat" Elmer made a noise of announcement that few people heard. "Blah," the fat boy and aided and abetted by a less familiar young man known as "Buddy," flitted hither and yon to the plaudits of the smiling multitude.

Umpire William Walsingham Guthrie, whom "the fellows" call "Bill," the "wise-acre," chuckled at the announcement that lice and other blood-sucking parasites could be removed from poultry by simply putting the bottle makes 200 GALLONS of drinking water—enough to last the average flock all season.

President-Elect Of Cuba Is Feted On Capital Visit

Washington, April 16.—Cuba's next president, General Gerardo Machado, who is here on an official visit, had a busy program today, ranging from a White House luncheon and a dinner tendered by Secretary of State and Mrs. Kellogg to a sight-seeing tour and shopping trip.

At the dinner, foreign dignitaries attended the dinner tonight, which was held at the Pan-American Union, but the occasion was purely social and devoid of political significance, those close to the general maintained.

He took occasion also to deny a report that he had come to the United States to negotiate a more advantageous compromise for the general's cabinet while he would name his cabinet while here.

The president-elect presented a curved bow containing specially made Cuban cigars, to President Coolidge. He met several notables at the white house luncheon, which lasted an hour and a half, and was followed further by an opportunity to meet others at a tea given by R. R. Govin, Havana newspaper publisher, and Mrs. Govin, later in the day.

General Machado, from time to time throughout the day, was in touch with Cuban by telephone, discussing government affairs and personal matters with various officials and friends. Arising at 7:30 o'clock in his suite at the Hotel Mayflower, he had the American newspapers read to him by an aide. He assured members of his party that he felt no fatigue after his lengthy trip, and joined them in their delight over the cool clear weather of Washington. After the heat they had experienced further south.

INDICTMENTS STAND AGAINST EX-DRAGON

Indianapolis, April 16.—Motions to quash five indictments returned against D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, charging him with an attack on the young Indiana woman, who later died from poison self-administered, were overruled today by Judge James A. Collins in criminal court. Stephenson through his attorney, Eph Luman, then entered a plea of not guilty.

The young woman died Tuesday after an illness of four weeks attributed by her parents and attending physicians to the poison which she took following the alleged attack by Stephenson. An inquest into her death was continued today by County Governor Dr. Paul F. Robinson, and funeral services were planned for this afternoon.

No definite date for the trial was fixed. Judge Collins indicated it would be impossible to try the case before May 25.

In addition to overruling the motions to quash the indictments against Stephenson, Judge Collins took similar action in the cases of Earl Gentry and Early Klink, former Evansville (Ind.) residents, who were indicted jointly with Stephenson on the charge of conspiracy to commit a felony. They also entered pleas of not guilty.

The charges against Stephenson include kidnapping with intent to kill, malicious mayhem, kidnaping and conspiracy to commit a felony.

CROWD OF 16,000 SEE CRACKERS WIN

Life of the season's big opening sport spectacle.

Old Man Weather, himself, took charge of the atmosphere and turned on his most smiling and most courteous smiles for the event. He ordered out a mild summer breeze to cool the fevered brows of frenzied fans. The old gentleman made his best job for the day and the man who would kick about the weather Thursday would send a prohibitive movement in Paris.

Then to bring a perfect end to a perfect day the Crackers handed the Lookouts a row of ciphers that looked like the numbers in Joe Rockefeller's income while they rolled up a cheerful total of eight tallies themselves to bring success and comfort to the bloodthirsty fans.

To entertain the crowds while awaiting the pitch of the first ball the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the opening day program, provided many novelties. One of them was a parachute leap from a flying airplane essayed by Daredevil Barnie Rowe. Daredevil Rowe had planned to land in the center of the playing field bearing the first ball, which he was to hand to Governor Clifford Walker. Young Rowe must have become jealous of the daredevils in the plan circus across the street from the ball park, because he landed almost in the middle of that group of intrepid individuals.

Ball is Retrieved.

The first ball finally was retrieved and given to the governor who, in turn, passed it to Mayor Sims, who must have given it to the armless wonder, because it never was thrown out on the playing field.

Umpire Dan Flenninger—who must stutter when he writes his name—brought out another ball and handed it to Hugh Bent, Cracker mountaineer for the "initial hurling" of the season.

MOTORSHIP REPORTED TO BE IN DISTRESS

San Pedro, Cal., April 16.—The Los Angeles motor ship, the Kalabre R., is reported in distress and drifting helplessly 800 miles south of here, off Cape San Lucas.

The tug Jimmie K. has been dispatched to the aid of the vessel, but will not reach her for at least three days.

Wireless messages reported Thursday afternoon that the Katherine K.'s engines were disabled, and that she was being buffeted by heavy seas. The ship carries a crew of 15 men.

The vessel has a cargo of fruit. She has been engaged in the Mexican trade, running between San Pedro and southern ports.

SHEPHERD ARRIGNED; DENIES POISON CHARGE

Chicago, April 16.—White and haggard from his month's stay in jail, William D. Shepherd today emphatically pleaded not guilty to the charge that he murdered William N. McClintock, his millionaire foster son, with typhoid germs.

Chief Justice Hopkins of the criminal court, before whom Shepherd was arraigned, previously had overruled a motion of defense council.

As soon as Shepherd's plea had been entered, Assistant State Attorney Gorman demanded that the trial start at once. Judge Hopkins ruled that the date was a matter for the trial judge to determine.

Shepherd's sister, Mrs. Amos W. Pedigo, of Indianapolis, sat beside him during the arraignment. He was taken back to his cell in the county jail, having been denied freedom on bail several times.

Olson Investigates

Information relating to life in the McClintock household just before the death of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, the boy's mother, was brought today to Chief Justice Olson of the municipal court by Mrs. Anna Beckford, who served as a nurse to Billy, Judge Olson instigated the investigation into the death of the child.

Shepherd's sister, Mrs. Amos W. Pedigo, of Indianapolis, sat beside him during the arraignment. He was taken back to his cell in the county jail, having been denied freedom on bail several times.

Mrs. Beckford told of a mysterious illness that sent her son to the hospital, and she described the influence of the Shepherds in the death of the child.

Shepherd shaped Mrs. McClintock's every decision.

Over Quarter Billion In Foreign Securities Sold Here This Year

Washington, April 16.—Foreign securities were publicly offered and sold in the United States during the first quarter of 1925 to a total value of $279,000,000 as compared with a total value of $238,000,000 during the same period of 1924. The commerce department which compiled the report today, noted that $238,000,000 of the total of foreign investment issues sold represented new loans as distinguished from refunding issues, while during the same quarter last year $142,000,000 of the securities floated represented refunding operations.

European borrowers, either government or corporation, obtained $130,000,000 out of the first quarter total of this year, while Latin-American countries got $56,000,000. Canadian loans amounted to $67,000,000.

The total of credits extended privately during the period is not accurately known, but several large items listed in this category included a banking advance of $40,000,000 to the Danish government, $5,000,000 lent to a German department store chain, and $15,000,000 to a Canadian timber corporation.

While only about one-ninth of the loans during the first three months last year went to corporate enterprises, the balance going to governments, this year the private borrowers got $35,000,000, or one-third of the total, and the governments got $10,000,000. The period was said, however, to be too short to make it certain that this trend would continue.

YOUTH WHO WED GIRL FROM ATLANTA JAILED AT TAMPA

Tampa, Fla., April 16.—James E. McDonald, 20, Chattanooga, Tenn., former University of Tennessee student, is in jail here today awaiting a hearing on various charges of fraud. He was captured in Key West, Fla., several days ago after being turned back by Havana, Cuba, authorities, and brought here yesterday by a deputy sheriff.

McDonald is charged with passing worthless checks in Tampa, St. Petersburg and Jacksonville and with stealing an automobile. His wife, formerly Miss Dorothy McQuire, of Atlanta, was not taken into custody.

McDonald admitted some of the charges against him today, according to local officials, but told newspapermen he would plead "not guilty."

SENATE VS. PRESIDENT.

The particular case that Senator Pepper and Solicitor General Beck argued before the United States supreme court Tuesday should have had its caption on the calendar changed to "The Senate of the United States vs. the President of the United States." It is simply a test case involving the right of the president to remove federal officials whose appointments had been confirmed by the senate. In itself the Myers case, the one at issue, is unimportant. And yet newspapers all over the country are carrying columns about it.

Frank S. Myers was made postmaster of Portland, Ore., in July, 1917, by President Wilson. He was removed from office in 1920. His successor was not named until July, 1921, at the end of his four-year term. The senate had not been notified of his removal. Suit was brought by Myers for arrears in pay on the ground that his removal was illegal. Losing in the court of claims, his case was carried to the supreme court.

The senate contends that congress has full power over all offices not created by the constitution, and, therefore, in creating such offices it can fix the tenure, the manner of appointment and say how such officials shall be removed. The government asserts that the power of removal is vested in the president and is an incident to his power to appoint and that laws cannot be executed effectually unless he has unrestricted power to remove the dangerous and the inefficient.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger, in discussing the case, says: "It is a continuation of the fight begun in December, 1833, when President Jackson sent to the senate the name of Roger B. Taney for secretary of the treasury. Taney was finally rejected. Three cabinet nominations were defeated in Tyler's regime and one in that of Johnson. His quarrel with the senate led Johnson to turn out of office hundreds of men appointed upon the recommendation of his enemies within his party. Congress in the tenure-of-office act of 1867 took immediate action to limit his power of removal, and led up to Johnson's impeachment.

"That net put into legal form those powers which the senate of 1925 says are vested in the constitution. It held the president's office by and with the consent of the senate" were entitled to these places until their successors were named and confirmed. After Grant's election the house repealed the act, but the senate, loath to surrender its powers, refused. Not until Cleveland's time—March, 1887—was the law repealed in its entirety.

It is obvious to even a casual observer of national affairs that the prestige of the white house is higher than that of the senate at the present time, and it is doubtful that even a victory for the senate can change the ratio of popular apportionment.

WOMAN'S WORLD FAIR.

The Woman's World Fair will open in Chicago April 18. It is designed to show the world what women are doing, have been doing in recent years, and are planning to do in the future. One correspondent, perhaps a bit overworked by the press agent, observes:

"Women who have succeeded in butchering, baking and candlestick making, a girl prospector from Canada, Hene Pachal, a woman who invented an umbrella tent, the leading petunia grower in the world, a woman in California, and Czechoslovakian showwomen, German women and women from nearly every country will be represented."

Mrs. Coolidge will press a button and open the fair. Her husband, the president, will make a speech over the radio, and a western girl will do the Paul Revere role and dash on horseback into the exposition building, etc.

It is said the fair will be confined strictly to showing woman's resourcefulness, and incidentally woman's executive ability, in that the affair will have no male attendants of any kind. Husbands and sweethearts will "wait around," but from an exposition viewpoint will be on the outside looking in.

There seems to be great interest in the exposition, and undoubtedly it will be a keenly interesting impress of the talents and handiwork of women, in business, production, industry, education, culture, professions, trades, homemaking, and so on.

Fact is there are few gainful pursuits today that women do not successfully follow. The plumbing in this exposition was done, to illustrate, by women plumbers. They are beginning to parallel the men in everything that is worth while and they can do about everything that a man can do, and a great deal that a man cannot do.

SUPERINTENDENT SUTTON.

Atlanta is to be congratulated that Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of her public school system, will serve in that capacity for another three-year term. He was unanimously chosen at Tuesday's meeting of the board of education, and in accepting it understood "to have made it definite that he did so for the full period to which elected, beginning July 1, 1925. The board acted wisely and thousands of Atlanta parents will feel the easier, for many rumors have recently connected Dr. Sutton with other and higher educational positions.

Atlanta has been fortunate in the selection of her school superintendent, and she has never had one that gave more general satisfaction, or who put more earnest inspirational virility behind his work than Dr. Sutton. Exceptionally trained as a teacher of the highest rank, profoundly cultured, a forceful speaker, a tireless worker of unimpeachable character, and with all possessing a deep, abiding interest in child training, Dr. Sutton fills a position for which he is ideally qualified, and fills it to the full satisfaction of the citizens of Atlanta.

School success is dependent upon general cooperation as much if not more than any other element in our public service. We know that Dr. Sutton will continue to have the full cooperation of the city government, and of the citizens of Atlanta generally.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

The new postal rates became effective Wednesday, April 15. The bulk of the rate increase is derived from second, third and fourth-class matter, the only change in first-class rates being in the case of private mailing cards and souvenir postal cards, which are increased from 1 to 2 cents. Postcards issued by the government remain at 1 cent.

Under the new law there is no change in the present two-cent charge for special delivery letters and packages of less than two pounds. Mail weighing more than that but not more than ten pounds require a special delivery stamp of 15 cents. A charge of 20 cents for a special delivery stamp is made on mail weighing more than ten pounds.

The new law offers a speedier service for parcel post, which mailers may or may not purchase at their own option. This new service is designated a "special handling," and means that parcel post is to be handled as first-class mail. Its particular advantage applies mainly to its handling en route on railroads and other transportation facilities between the postoffice of dispatch and the postoffice of destination.

For this special handling of mail a charge of 25 cents is imposed in addition to the regular postage and 2 cents service charge. The minimum registry fee under the new law is increased from 10 cents to 15 cents on all domestic registered mail, including that to island possessions of the United States and the Canal Zone. A return receipt for any registered mail matter will, upon request of the sender and payment of a 3-cent fee at the time of registration, be taken on delivery and returned to the sender. Heretofore, receipts have been taken upon request and returned free to the sender.

Under the new law parcel post mail may be insured against loss, rifling or damage in an amount equivalent to its actual value. These changes were made, it will be recalled, in order to provide revenue to pay the extra salaries granted to postal employees.

It's rather too much for the auto-excurionist to expect the railroad train to sidetrack till he gets by. When the police searched Chapman, the far-famed bandit, they completely overlooked the alibi.

Goin' the way of the country—
Goin' the wonderful way,
Under heaven's sun
Or with stars o' the night,
With the friendly old country to-day!

II.
We wish her the top o' the mornin'
In all that we sing or we say;
In peace time or strife,
We are with her for ever and aye,
With the friendly old country to-day.

And breathe her loved name when they pray,
Her own, in all weather,
Still goin' together,
With the wonderful country to-day!

The Appeal of the Trees.
"That man or woman," says the "Many Herald," "to whom a tree does make deep appeal, makes something which nothing else in nature can quite supply. There are many things beautiful and inspirational in the flora of old earth, from tiny flowering plants whose beauty only the magnifying glass can reveal to great trees of the forest and jungle. But the tree is the regal monarch to which all men must pay tribute. From the savage who goes to its spreading branches for wood for his bow to those to whom the blessings of civilization have brought the luxury of lightening, and who utilize the products of trees in a thousand useful ways."

The Home-Song.
The sweetest of the singer!
Is where the homelike shines;
It echoes from a doorway
'Neath the mornin'-glory vines.

I hear it wh. resound I roam—
A little song of love and home.

I. Lightens all my labor
Amid the toiling throng,
And all the world seems brighter
For just a little song.

The music that I love the best—
It calls me home to peace and rest.

The Thomasian Times notes that "three can sit on a flivver, with close crowding, but it's always a struggle for the boy in the middle to put both arms on the back of the seat."

A Warning Word.
I reckon if the old farm
Could have a word to say
When the boys pack their belongings
'Twould be: "No matter place or clime,
The old farm's there at dinner time."

THE LAWLESS IN LAWS

The young wife who summons her mother to her aid in every crisis of emergency is a shadow of womanhood. I certainly sympathize with the young husband who marries the whole family like and bleats the usual cry: "Make my wife put up with the criticism of the law in my notion of the meanest man. Looking at this problem from the doctor's point of view, I should say that the girl who contemplates marriage with the kind of man that is likely to stand up for anything in his line is not wise to keep up the contemplation indefinitely or until the prospective in laws are all dead or in jail.

Our Stake in the Philippines

BY NORBERT LYONS
Secretary American Chamber of Commerce for the Philippines

(Our great naval maneuvers in the Pacific and the proposed first-hand study of Philippine problems by Representative Robert Bacon, a member of the House of Representatives, call attention to the strategic and economic importance of these islands to the United States. It is not too far from the truth to say that the Philippines are common to the United States and the Pacific.)

The Philippines are common to the United States and the Pacific. They are a small group of islands lying somewhere in the Pacific whose defense occasionally presents itself as a military problem to our army and navy authorities. Every once in a while a congressional committee brings up the question and the general impression gathered from these hearings is that the Philippines are altogether too troublesome a national appendage to bother with. It is high time that the true geographic, economic and strategic importance of this American possession were better understood by the public at large.

Whether or not the Philippines are important strategically depends upon one's attitude as regards our national obligations toward the Filipino people. If one believes that we have no continuing obligations toward those people and that we ought to comply immediately with the demand of their leaders for complete political independence, then the islands have no strategic value, either commercial or military. Once we cut our political ties with the Philippines it will be no concern of ours how they develop their foreign commerce or how successful they may be in maintaining their territorial integrity. Those who believe, however, in the indefinite retention of the islands, out of a sense of solicitude and responsibility for the people, maintain that the Archipelago is well situated strategically, both from a military and a commercial standpoint.

A glance at the map of the far east will reveal the Philippines as occupying almost the geographical center of that region. They form an important link in the insular chain that separates China and the continent of Asia from the Pacific ocean. The Philippines constitute one of the longest and most important links in this chain. Acquisition of this link by any foreign power otherwise interested in the far east would mean the securing of a very great advantage, as it is ideally situated for a base of trading activities and could also serve as a base for naval operations. At any rate, it controls the door to central China from the Pacific side.

Then it is worth while remembering that the islands are much larger in area than most persons are aware of. North and south the group measures 1,152 miles, east and west 852 miles. Their total land area is 115,036 square miles, or about the same as that of Italy. They are larger than the New England states and New York taken together.

Practically all tropical products are grown there. Sugar is the principal product, followed by Manila hemp, rice, coconut oil, copra and tobacco. Gold, copper, coal, iron and other minerals abound. Thousands of square miles of fine hardwood forests are found.

Philippine foreign trade for 1924 amounted to $243,372,000, of which about 65 per cent was with the United States.

It should be plain that no one would be justified in referring to the islands as "small fry," as has at times been done.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Red Punch and Judy.

Even good old Punch and Judy have fallen before the propaganda onslaught in Russia. Their names have been changed to Ivan and Marina (daughter of the October-bolshevik revolution). Ivan goes through hell as it were to do away with the hated capitalist. He is a little fellow, but he is making a white slave. He is a little fellow, but he is making a white slave. He is a little fellow, but he is making a white slave.

Balfour.

Mr. Wickersham Steel, former editor of The London Times, points out in a recent article that there are rather several Balfours: one the "Metaphysical, ironic Balfour, skilled in mental gymnastics and the other, a Balfour the statesman, with constructive proposals at Versailles, Washington and Geneva. The explanation for this discrepancy of the apparently conflicting phenomena in Lord Balfour seems to be that fundamentally he has a scientific mind. Politics with Balfour has been game, brilliantly pursued at times, with deadly wit and cutting irony, but a game none the less. On several occasions he has spoken of his contempt for politics and on more than one occasion in his youth he threatened to give up public life and devote himself to science and research. He has never, however, followed through. Seldom did he burn with passion in the political arena. At times he even seemed lethargic and lazy. His contemporaries have often complained that Balfour was always lying down, eyes closed, arms under head and one lanky leg dangling over the side of the chair. Nothing left power under a minute before. The crippled man said he was in need. If he had ten thousand he could buy a little business and support his wife and children. Victor Emmanuel handed him 20,000 lire and patted him on the shoulder after asking where the veteran had won his money. Balfour said: "The king 'can do no wrong' in the eyes of this old soldier."

Act of a King.

A crippled veteran presented himself at the palace of Italy's king recently and demanded from the guard that he be allowed to speak with Victor Emmanuel, "for whom he had fought and bled." The king, whether American, British or French, can imagine the scene. Hot-headed veteran talking about his rights, young recruits king, and a king, moreover, remarkably enough the king comes to him. Then the old boy begins to fumble with his cap and to stammer. He is a little fellow, but he is making a white slave. He is a little fellow, but he is making a white slave. He is a little fellow, but he is making a white slave.

The Karolyi Affair.

A remarkably just and able discussion of events in Hungary after the Hapsburg demise and the part played by Count Karolyi in those events is given by Sz. Szemere, Hungarian journalist, now residing at Bern. Count Karolyi was prohibited of discussing political affairs while in the United States. Mr. Szemere after telling that Karolyi was a staunch friend of the allies even during the war, concludes his story with the words: "Count Karolyi is an excellent, an extraordinarily honest man, singularly pure in character, animated by a sincere love for humanity and high degree of feeling, possessing of a political sensitivity, capable of making great sacrifices for his country. He is a man of noble birth, in short—but certainly not a genius, not even a statesman of any conspicuous ability, but a man of intelligence and a high degree of feeling, possessing of a political sensitivity, capable of making great sacrifices for his country. ## Method of Attack Studied As U. S. Battle Fleet Steams Toward Hawaiian Islands

"Black" Force Defending Islands Strongly En- trenched and Prepared To Resist Invaders.

San Francisco, April 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—The method of attack to be used by Admiral S. S. Robison, commander-in-chief of the battle fleet, in the attempt to recapture the Hawaiian Islands from the "enemy" who theoretically holds them, was the foremost topic of speculation among the personnel of the United States grand fleet as it entered its second night of steaming toward the western outpost of the nation's defense.

Although it has been made known that the navy and war departments and the senior officers of both services consider the matter of "who wins the war" as minor in comparison with the greater purpose of disclosing defects in the country's defense, both "the black" force, which holds the islands, and "the blue" force, which is the fleet, are anxious to be returned victor because of the natural desire not to be beaten in anything.

Black Force Strong.
The "black" force, consisting of the Hawaiian department of the army, the largest single portion of the military establishment, stationed at any one place in the United States, the Hawaiian national guard, vessels and establishment of the 14th national district, reinforced by several units which ordinarily would operate with the fleet, has been performing extensive practice maneuvers for months in preparation for the war game, it has been learned by the intelligence department of the "blue" fleet.

It is known that the high command of the "black" force is determined to repulse the "blue" fleet if possible, or to hold out against the attack as long as possible before capitulation. Several avenues of action are open to Admiral Robison. Any one or all of them might be utilized in the attack, which will be as much like actual warfare as it is possible to make the game.

Several Ways to Attack.
It may be decided to attempt to land a party of the marines, who are traveling aboard the United States transport Henderson with the fleet, reinforced by the regular marine detachments of the various vessels, and a landing party of sailors. Another possible angle of attack is by the use of airplanes on the U. S. S. Langley and the scout planes carried aboard the battleships and launched from catapults.

A better plan, in the opinion of military and naval strategists, would contemplate the seizure by the "blue" force of one of the other islands of the group which are not fortified and would fall easily, it is believed, before the attack of the fleet. From this island, an air attack would be launched against Oahu.

FORSYTH PRESENTS MANY HEADLINERS ON BILL THIS WEEK

Another excellent bill in observance of National Vaudeville Artists' week was offered at Keith's Forsyth theater Thursday in opening shows of the engagement for the last three days of the week.

William Ebs, in a novelty surprise and Lydell and Macy in "Two Old Cronies," were among the best acts offered. Ruby Royce and Sister were given a big reception, while La Paiva and company presented a beautiful dancing and song revue which scored a big hit. Miss Merle and Frieda opened their bill.

William Ebs has an act that could easily be spoiled by telling its secret in advance, so it won't be told here. But it ends with a clever surprise for the audience.

In "Two Old Cronies," a sketch by John McEwan one of the "cronies" of Al Lydell does a ludicrous eccentric dance, while the other is a humorist. Ruby Royce and Sister are two speedy dancers who present several new dances with finish and grace.

The La Paiva song and dance revue is happily conceived and gracefully presented. The dancers wear attractive costumes and introduce many novelty steps.

In the act of Miss Merle and Frieda, the "friends" are trained cackoos who give a marvelous action under the direction of their trainer.

Pathe News and Aesop's fable precede the regular bill. In the Pathe News pictures of the big opening day crowd and scenes from the opening baseball game Thursday afternoon were presented.

Orthodontists End Conference Today With Business Meet

Installation of officers, consideration of business pertaining to the international conference and reading of a number of scientific papers today will close the 24th annual meeting of the American Society of Orthodontists, which has been in session here since Tuesday.

Thursday was spent with morning sessions at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, which was followed by an automobile drive to Stone Mountain for the purpose of viewing the Confederate memorial. During the afternoon a golf tournament was held at Druid Hills Golf club under the direction of Dr. Joe Eby and Dr. Carl Mott.

Pathe pictures for today include those dealing with the correction of dental deformities, which also correct facial deformities by nationally known orthodontists. Case reports will be discussed at the 11 o'clock session by Dr. C. R. Baker, of Evanston, Ill.; Dr. Allen H. Suggert, of San Francisco; and Dr. Harry E. Kelsey, of Baltimore.

Installation of officers will take place at 4:15 o'clock at the Biltmore.

Insurance Taxation Right Claimed by U. S. In Frick Estate Suit

Washington, April 16.—The right of the government to tax the $224,000 of life insurance left by Henry C. Frick, Pittsburgh iron and steel magnate, to his widow and daughter, was argued today in the supreme court.

The government, holding that this insurance is taxable as part of the Frick estate, is seeking to compel the executors to include the amount in the total for determination of the estate tax payment. The lower court held that the law under which the tax was proposed was unconstitutional because by specifically adding life insurance proceeds to net estates, it provided a direct tax.

If that decision is upheld by the supreme court, Mrs. Frick and her daughter will not be required to pay any tax whatever upon the money they received under the insurance policies, it having been established by a long line of precedents that proceeds from life insurance policies as such are not income and therefore are not taxable.

The importance of the case was emphasized by numerous briefs filed in the court by counsel representing large estates.

SHRINE BAND GIVES CONCERT ON SUNDAY

Yanab Temple's Million Dollar Shrine band will give its annual concert at the Scottish Rite Crippled Children's hospital Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. A special program of popular music has been prepared by Noble Enrico Leide, director, with the purpose of making the concert attractive to little patients of the big hospital.

The concert will be given on the lawn in front of the hospital, and the public is invited. The hospital is located at the corner of East Lake drive and the South Decatur street car line.

Play Safe While There's Still Time

"Here's one who wants to play safe while there's time. Please enter my subscription to The Constitution and send me a $5,000 Travel Accident policy under your great insurance offer."

An Atlanta man—one of the thousands who drive automobiles—thus wrote the insurance department of The Constitution several days ago, explaining that the news of accidents, death and injuries in almost every newspaper had convinced him that every person should secure ample protection against emergencies that cannot be foreseen.

"Your wonderful insurance offer instantly caught my attention, because you offer insurance with liberal protective provisions and at a cost that is ridiculously low," he added.

The Constitution's $5,000 Travel Accident policy costs only $1 per year in addition to the subscription rates of the Daily and Sunday Constitution, and it provides the following features:

$5,000 travel accident death, the policy increasing 10 per cent per year to $7,500 in five years; $2,000 automobile death, the policy increasing 10 per cent per year to $3,000 in five years; $1,000 pedestrian accident death, the policy increasing 10 per cent per year to $1,500 in five years; large sums for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability for a period of 15 weeks resulting from certain specified accidents.

You cannot equal this protective opportunity in the insurance offer of any southern newspaper. Wait no longer to secure your protection. Phone, write or visit The Constitution's insurance department at once.

Physicians at the hospital stated Thursday night, however, that there was a slight change for the better and believe that the victims will recover.

Both train and car were coming to Atlanta. According to C. A. Peacock, Jr., driver of the car, he came to a dead halt but did not see the approaching train. ### RUNAWAY DIRIGIBLE UNDER CONTROL of England and safety. There is little hope that she can land safely before morning, even if she is able to make unexpected headway on the return journey across the North sea.

Intermittent communication kept the air ministry informed of the R-33's progress and her course was ordered from the air ministry office in Kingsway. Commander G. H. Scott, who also commanded the R-33 on the trans-Atlantic flight after the war, was not aboard his ship when she tore loose. With a group of other experts at the air ministry, Scott directed the handling of the wounded dirigible, aided by minute weather reports obtained from the air ministry station in the same building.

Regular Operator Not on Ship.
The regular wireless operator was on the ground when the wind's force apparently in distress and this is believed to explain why sometimes as much as two hours intervened between the receipt of messages as the R-33's progress and in need of assistance. Panicky fear swept the watchers in Kingsway, but a later message from the R-33 proved the surface observers to have taken too much for granted from her queer behavior.

Ten minutes after the ripping swoosh of her new covering had signaled the start of her mad race with nature, the R-33 was passing over Lowestoft on the British coast, heading southward. She bobbed and dipped and some of her plunges seemed almost to stand her on end. Each time the handicapped flier righted herself after a brief swoosh, for both those below and those aloft.

No Relatives on Board.
Early reports that some relatives of members of the crew were aboard the R-33 were denied by the air ministry. Among the 20 souls aboard is Corporal Potter, a survivor of the explosion and collapse of the ZR-10 over Hull, August 24, 1921, in which 12 of the mixed British and American crew were killed. The ZR-2 would have been turned over to the United States, but for the accident. The American fliers were being schooled by British experts when the explosion sent the dirigible flaming into the North Sea.

Ground crews are in readiness both at Pullman and Cardington to bring the R-33 to earth when she comes home. The artillery wheels dangling from her stern were used to steady and to keep level that end of the ship when she was attached to her mooring mast. There was no time to cast off anything when the flight began.

Passing above Lowestoft toward the North sea, the R-33 thrilled watchers when she suddenly dived from an altitude of 2,000 feet. It seemed that she had begun to fall, but she got her tail down and shot forward on her erratic course which soon took her out of sight behind a dark bank of clouds.

LOS ANGELES FLIGHT TO BERMUDA DELAYED.
Washington, April 16.—The dirigible Los Angeles will be unable to leave for her second trip to Bermuda before tomorrow night, the navy department was advised tonight in a message from her base at Lakehurst, New Jersey.

Examination and adjustment of water recovery condensers on the craft, after her trial flight today, will require 24 hours, her commander reported. Earlier in the day, it was thought the ship would leave tonight for Bermuda.

AUTO TRUCK ON WAY TO BRING BACK DIRIGIBLE.
Black Walnut, Mo., April 16.—An automobile truck was on its way here tonight from Scott field, Belleville, Ill., to take back the partially deflated bag and gondola of the TC-3, a big dirigible, which safely dropped to earth here this afternoon with its crew of seven after drifting with the winds across the Missouri and Mississippi rivers from Caseyville, Ill. The huge airship suffered a mishap to its rudder shortly after noon and drifted for more than two hours.

Part of the 200,000 cubic feet of noninflammable gas which kept it aloft was allowed to escape before the dirigible descended. First Lieutenant Douglas Johnson was in command.

ATLANTA IS SEEN AS LEADING AIRPORT

This city also would be a logical stop on routes from New Orleans to Nashville or Louisville; on a southern route to the Pacific coast, and also on a route which might be extended south from Boston via New York and Washington.

Emphasizes Importance.
Mr. Kriegshafer also emphasized the importance of having Atlanta placed on one of the government mail routes.

A committee composed of Henderson, Mr. Chancey Smith, Lt. E. Lee Cone and James A. Holmwood, was named by the mayor to communicate with Georgia congressmen, asking them to use their influence in bringing that about.

Encouraging news was received in announcement from Washington that Postmaster General Clegg had promised to give serious consideration to Atlanta's claims for a place on one of the routes.

Maps Out Landing Place.
W. A. Hansell, chief of construction, stated that he has mapped out a triangular piece of land inside the race track, which, when graded, will provide 30 acres with a maximum grade of two per cent. The grading will cost only about $5,000, he said, but it will be necessary to build a road from the outside of the race track to the field, which would cost an additional $5,000.

Beel Blevins, commercial pilot who has used Candler field as his base for several months, told of the advantages offered by Candler field, and urged that it be graded as soon as possible.

He also told of the magnitude of the commercial air meeting planned for Atlanta by the National Aeronautic association, which, he said, would bring planes from every nation for several months, told of the advantages offered by Candler field, and urged that it be graded as soon as possible.

At the suggestion of Mr. Cone all present at the meeting were enrolled as members of the Atlanta chapter of the National Aeronautic association.

Carl F. Hutchison, who was elected secretary, predicted that within a few years the air would be full of airplanes connecting every important city.

An address on "The Airplane for Defense" by Harry Lee McGriff, Atlanta attorney, brought the session to a close.

YORKTOWN-NEW YORK SERVICE BEGINS TODAY.
Newport News, Va., April 16.—Arrival at Yorktown tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock of the first passenger airplane of a weekly service between New York city and the scene of the decisive battle of the Revolutionary war will be celebrated with fitting ceremonies.

The airplane service has been arranged by contract between the Yorktown Manor Golf and Country club and Airways, Inc., with the belief that numbers of New York golfers will desire to spend their week-ends playing over the splendid new 18-hole course of the club, which recently was completed at a cost of more than $140,000.

Those who have sold their property to Mr. Ford have had deeds prepared include Harry D. Weed, J. L. Budreau, Dr. Julian Chisholm, C. H. Skipper, the estate of Haberman Clay Chris Bailey who lives in Bryan county and others.

The property lies very largely in Bryan county along the banks of the Ogeechee river. It is believed he is going to erect a winter home here and lay out a large preserve.

The property is comparatively near that of Howard Coffin, also of Detroit, and of Dr. Torrey, another Detroit man, who is just completing a very extensive and expensive home on Ochsaw Island, which he bought a year ago.

Mr. Ford has had a representative here for several weeks looking into titles and making arrangements from this end for taking over the property.

Judge Powell Speaks.
Judge Arthur G. Powell was principal speaker at the Masonic club luncheon this week and took as his subject, "Old-fashioned Ideas." Judge Powell lamented the apparent present-day disrespect for law and order and promulgated the ideas that "wine, women and song had become far superior to prohibition, suffragettes and jazz music."

CRACKERS SLAM TO WIN FOR OPENING DAY CROWD

Crowd of 16,099 Smashes Southern Attendance Record

A Corner of the Crowd and What It Saw When Crackers Beat Lookouts in Opener in Atlanta

Three flashes with the camera from the game yesterday at Spiller's field in which the Crackers turned back the Lookouts 8-to-1. At the left is a remarkable action picture showing erratic judgment by Dan Pfening, umpire. Rod Murphy, Cracker first-sacker, is shown sliding into third base ahead of Izzy Bandrimer, Lookout third baseman, getting the ball from Pitcher Ballou. Pfening is shown calling Murphy out. This action came in the second inning. In the center is a cross section of the 16,000 crowd that packed Spiller's field for the opener. At the right, John Martin, in white suit, president of the Southern league, handing to Governor Walker the first ball, thrown on the field by the executive. In the foreground is Bennie Rowe, who dropped in a parachute, bringing the ball from the skies, to President Martin.

Bedient Hurls Great Game Over Lookouts as 16,099 Watch Mates Hammer Ballou

By GEORGE CONGDON

Bert Niehoff, with the assistance of eight hirelings, principal among whom was Hughie Bedient, possessor of a good right arm, much stuff and more brains, selected yesterday and the crowd of 16,099 people to pull the shade one game lower on views Strang Nicklin, proprietor of the Chattanooga club, might have had on the Southern league pennant.

The score was 8 to 1. Nobody cared about that, though, the score in actual figures. When the Crackers slapped out a carton of hits for a flock of runs and Bedient held the Lookouts to somewhere near a round nothing, that raring, yelling, razzing mob was satisfied. The main thing was that Messrs. Zoeller, Niehoff, Good, Cullop, Smith, Murphy, Gazella, Brock and Bedient did just what they did.

The game with its swift slinging, apple mauling and keen fielding was just what an opening day crowd wants. The folks liked their boys. The boys deserved to be liked after what they produced for the folks. Bedient, an artist of considerable standing when he shot them over in the majors, pitched the prettiest ball game fans have seen so far this year. Sure, he pitched the first game at home, but we're including the exhibition games, etc. Seven hits was the best the Lookouts could do to the old boy, and three of these came in the last two innings when, with the Crackers eight runs to the good, Hughie didn't work quite so hard.

It's early in the season, you know, and expensive soupbones are hard to replace.

Shoutout Expected.

Win Ballou, right-handed veteran of the Southern league, who was out of organized baseball last year, was the chief mourner. Two had innings he had—that is, two innings worse than the rest—roasted his goose to a dark brown. Monroe Schwartz, unique right-handed pitcher with Atlanta last year, worked the last pair of innings against the Crackers, but while he held his old outfit to a single single, he couldn't quite knock in eight runs to tie the score.

All the way the game looked like a shutout victory for the Niehoffs, but in the last inning Mike Burke, another ex-Cracker, furnished the dying gasp for the visitors in the form of a murderous double that carried to the rail of the negro stands in left field. Mike went to third on Bigelow's grounder to second and trotted home when Barnes went out the same way. Bates took the last lick of the day by flying out to Nick Cullop in center field.

It was with the customary opening-day gusto that the Crackers stuck their fingers into the Southern league pie for 1925. There was the opening day in Chattanooga Tuesday, but that wasn't home. Neither did Chattanooga's 3,400 people look like the Crackers' record-breaking 16,000 in their own front yard. But the Crackers won the Chattanooga opener. They also won Wednesday. When yesterday came up they kept up their percentage of 1.000 by the most humiliating performance to the Lookouts in three games.

Clarke to Work Today. Today the Crackers step into the fourth game with the Lookouts again on deck for the trimming. Rufus Clarke, 200-pound right-hander who last year worked for Birmingham, will start the Cracker end of the slinging, while George Cunningham, who went in for an inning or two in one of the Chattanooga games, will work for Nicklin.

The mass of men, women and children made a veritable bowl of the

Tech Students Beat Jones, Hosmer at Druid Hills

BY DICK HAWKINS.

While 30 Orthodoxists from nearly as many states competed in a tournament over the beautiful Druid Hills course Thursday afternoon, Bobby Jones and his partner, Dr. Harry Hosmer, of Detroit, dropped an exhibition match to Watts Gunn and Johnny Bachman, both Georgia Tech students. The match ended 2 and 1.

Gunn played a sparkling game of golf, as his score will indicate, and the victory marked up by him and his fellow student is no mean accomplishment. Jones, who is usually the very soul of steadiness, found himself in trouble several times, but his strong recovery saved his score from a serious tumble, and it was only by consistently good golf that Gunn and Bachman were able to retire the champion and Dr. Hosmer.

'Cue for Guests.

As guests of Dr. Thomas Hinman, president of the club, the delegates at the national convention of Orthodoxists feasted at an old-time Georgia barbecue at noon Thursday and then 30 of their number took part in the medal play tournament for prizes offered by the club.

The doctors played under their local course handicaps adapted to the Druid Hills par figures by Harry Stevens, club professional. Because of the fact that the handicaps carried by many of the participants were computed on courses with higher or lower par, it was necessary to change them to make the figures equitable.

Prizes were offered for the best gross and the best net scores in the tournament. Dr. F. M. Casto, of the Mayfield club in Cleveland, took off the low gross honor with a card of 80 for the round and Dr. O. W. White, of the Detroit Golf club, came in with a 71 to win the low net trophy. Other good cards were in evidence among the visitors.

Praise Druid Hills.

The "men behind the gun"—Dr. Hinman and Harry Stevens—came in for unstinted praise at the hands of the visitors for their efforts in making the Druid Hills course a masterpiece of golf paradise.

The sentiment of all the delegates who played the course Thursday was voiced by Dr. White, winner of the low net prize, when he said to the writer, "I have never played over a course with 18 better greens than those at Druid Hills and the men who are responsible for the condition of the links we played today are due to be congratulated."

This from a member of the Detroit Golf club carries much weight when it is remembered that the aforementioned club has one of the best courses in the north.

PREP NINES WILL CLASH TODAY

BY GORDON KEITH.

Boys' High plays Decatur High in Decatur and Marist meets Commercial at Marist this afternoon in the final games of the first half of the prep league schedule.

If the Hurricane nine can win from the Decatur club, Boys' High will be at the top of the league along with Tech High and G. M. A., with an average of 800, but if the DeKalb team can stop Coach White's players, Decatur and Boys' High will be tied for second place with three games won and two lost. Commercial and Marist meet on the Marist campus to settle the cellar championship for the first round, neither club having won a game to date.

The Decatur Boys' High meeting in Decatur should be a spirited ball game, with the visiting Purple a slight favorite. The Hurricane defeated Tech High Tuesday in a great pitchers' duel, 2-1, and the following afternoon the Smithies slaughtered three Decatur hurlers and won, 10 to 2.

Former High Mark Set Up By Atlanta Fans in 1923; Birmingham Shows 14,000

Atlanta smashed another record yesterday! When 16,099 baseball fans paid their way into the Atlanta ball park for Atlanta's opening game of the 1925 Southern league season, they topped the old record for Southern league attendance by 35 folks. The old record of 16,064 was hung up by Atlanta on the home opening day in 1923, according to President Dan Michalove of the baseball club, in giving out figures last night.

Atlanta clinched the 1925 attendance cup by turning out in such numbers yesterday, for Birmingham, always next to Atlanta in baseball attendance, last night gave out an unofficial attendance of 14,000. The figures were given out by President Smith of the Birmingham club.

New Orleans will have its opening day Friday, but the Louisiana city has never been a close contender for Southern league opening day attendance records. Official figures for Atlanta's attendance yesterday were given by President Michalove as follows:

Box seats—2,512.
Grand stand—8,925.
Negro stands—950.
Children—847.
Bleachers—2,865.
"Atlanta people can be proud of the record they set today at the opening ball game," President Michalove said last night. "Especially are we indebted to the Junior Chamber of Commerce, whose members worked

LAKEWOOD OPENS SEASON SATURDAY

Lakewood Park will begin its summer season at 12 o'clock Saturday, when every gate leading into the park will swing wide until the close of the Southeastern Fair on October 17. The park will be open every day at 10 o'clock and close at 11 at night.

Free moving pictures will be shown each night and the pictures will change daily. Every Sunday night a special screen attraction has been lined.

Free hand concerts will be held every Sunday afternoon.

Workmen have been busy during the past two weeks making ready for the opening Saturday and Secretary Striplin announced Friday that everything is in readiness.

The mile race track is being worked over and will be in excellent shape for auto races on May 2.

Lakewood's spacious grounds are free to picnic and barbecue parties and special attention will be given local civic and private organizations that wish to hold outdoor frolics during the spring and summer months.

There is sufficient room in the concrete buildings to take care of more than 6,000 persons in case of bad weather.

There will be skating every night until 11 o'clock. The rink recently has been worked over.

MATHEWSON SETS FILM SPEED RECORD WITH GAME PRINTS

Tracy Mathewson, staff photographer of The Constitution, and motion picture cameraman without rival, established something like a new record in Atlanta Thursday when the moving pictures he took at the opening baseball game between Atlanta and Chattanooga in the afternoon were given as part of the program at the night performances at the Metropolitan theater.

Mr. Mathewson took splendid views of the great crowd of 16,000 odd fans of the airplane and other "stunts" and of many of the most exciting incidents of play during the game.

To make these pictures, develop the negative, print the film and have it ready for showing on the screen in the scant few hours which elapsed between the game and the opening of the first night performance at the theater on the same day is a record that could only be accomplished by an expert cameraman, working under the most favorable circumstances and with the most modern of equipment.

Ergo, "Matty" had all three qualifications Thursday.

6 ATLANTA GIRLS TO LEAVE TODAY ON GEORGIA TOUR

Six girls, members of the history club of the O'Keefe junior high school, will leave Atlanta this morning for a sight-seeing tour of the state. The girls—Miss Frances Boykin, Katherine McArthur, Margaret Scott, Sara Williams, Lundy Sharp and Sarah Logan—will be accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Mays, teacher at the school, and Mrs. S. F. Boykin, mother of one of the girls, as chaperons.

Athens, Washington, Lexington and Crawfordsville will be among the points visited on the "See Georgia" tour. At Athens, the party will visit the University of Georgia, while they will be guests of Judge A. W. Stephens at Washington.

Mrs. Inman Reappointed As Member of Managers Of Atlanta Foundation

Mrs. Samuel M. Inman Thursday was reappointed as a member of the board of managers of the Atlanta Foundation by Mayor Walter A. Sims, and will serve a five-year term. Mrs. Inman was made a member of the original board when the foundation was organized in 1921.

The organization was started for the purpose of gathering all charitable bequests and gifts into a general fund to be used permanently for educational and charitable work for residents of Fulton and DeKalb counties.

Its chief function is supervising bequests where the beneficiary has died, or in cases when the beneficiary is an institution which has ceased to exist. It is modeled after the Cleveland foundation, the largest organization of kind in the world.

Theater Guild Gives 'Clarence' In Fine Style

Before a regrettably small audience in the Women's Club auditorium Thursday night, the Little Theater Guild presented Booth Tarkington's famous comedy, "Clarence." In splendid manner the production through-out was worthy of highest praise and is interesting in that it shows how well Atlanta is equipped for players among her own people.

The play, of course, is so well known to theatergoers that it is unnecessary to do more than remind people how delightful it is and how delicate in its humor.

Henry McLemore carried the title role. This part really constitutes the backbone of the play, its success or failure making or breaking the production. In measuring the genuine excellence of the performance therefore, too much credit cannot be given Mr. McLemore.

Freud Stewart was a clever "Bobby," scoring a personal triumph equal to that he achieved a few weeks ago with the Oglethorpe players. Miss Kathleen was a sympathetic "Violent Pinney," depicting this difficult character with that understanding essential to "getting the playwright's idea over."

Miss Elsie Tripp made a realistic flapper daughter of "Cora," and Miss Stella Meadow did all that was possible with the role of "Mrs. Wheeler."

E. H. Andrews was the big business man to the life as "Mr. Wheeler," while Joseph R. Braxwell handled the small role of Mrs. Martyn without a fault. Other capable players who handled the smaller roles beyond criticism were Miss Wilma Richardson, Hudson Edwards and Van Ferguson.

The staging, while not elaborate, was thoroughly effective and the entire performance moved with smoothness rare in amateur theatricals.

RALPH T. JONES.

This will be the third meeting of the club, which has as its aim the welfare of the Masonic Orphans' home, at Macon, Ga. Officers are V. H. Poole, president; T. J. Weaver, vice president; J. P. Powe, secretary, and W. S. Richardson, treasurer.

FUNERAL RITES TODAY FOR MRS. L. B. WALLING

Funeral service for Mrs. L. B. Walling, Jr., 21, of Leesburg, Fla., formerly of Atlanta, who died Wednesday night at a private hospital here, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning from the chapel of Barclay & Brandon. Interment will be in West View.

Mrs. Walling, formerly Miss Katherine Dunlap, was a daughter of Joseph V. Dunlap, of Atlanta. She was a niece of Mrs. G. Arthur Howell, of Atlanta; Rev. Joseph D. Mitchell, of Savannah, and Barney S. Dunlap, of Cordele.

POOLS TO BE CLOSED FOR ANOTHER MONTH

Atlantans upon whom the recent hot weather has brought an overwhelming desire to languish in the waters of Piedmont and Grant park lakes will be forced to wait about a month, according to L. L. Wallis, general manager of parks.

"While the weather has been warm for the past few days, it is entirely too early to open the pools," Mr. Wallis said. "We usually open them about May 15, and it is improbable that they will be ready for use of the public before that time this year."

CHANGANG FUGITIVE CAPTURED BY WARDEN

Recognizing a passing pedestrian as a convict who recently escaped from his chain gang, T. C. Moore, warden of Fayette county, on Thursday jumped from his automobile while driving on Hunter street and seized G. H. Conkle, of Atlanta.

Conkle was sentenced to serve from two to three years on conviction in the Fulton county for burglary. He escaped from the Fayette county jail on April 6. At the time of his capture, Warden Moore was on the way to the office of the state prison commission in the capital to deliver another convict for transfer to another county jail. He stated he was glad to get Conkle to replace the man he was losing.

The warden also expressed his pleasure in making the capture himself, as it saves the payment of the $50 reward for capture of an escaped convict, which would have had to be paid had any other person caught Conkle. According to Secretary Stanley, of the prison commission, Conkle remarked that he expected to escape again before expiration of his term, however, so there may be a chance for someone to earn $50 by catching him again in the near future.

The number of entries at English horse shows declines year by year, owing to increasing use of motor cars.

FIGHT ON PISTOL INDORSED BY P.T.A.

Macon, April 16.—The Georgia congress of Parents and Teachers, which has been in session here since Tuesday, came to a close this afternoon. The chief speaker this morning was Dr. Willis Sutton, of Atlanta, who spoke on "realizing a vision." Proper feeding of the child and proper care of the boys and girls of today who will be the men and women of tomorrow was stressed by the speaker.

The executive board made a number of recommendations this morning, and several resolutions were adopted. Dr. J. P. Bowdoin, of the state health board, was thanked for the health survey reports furnished the Parents-Teachers. A resolution endorsing the next national convention of this body to Atlanta was adopted.

Recommendations of the executive board were as follows: Recommending to the Georgia Education association the teaching of music in the public schools of the state; endorsing the campaign against carrying and sale of pistols; expressing regret at the passing of Mrs. Milton P. Higgins, a national president; endorsing the national oratorical contest; recommendation of farm home programs providing for a home demonstration agent in every county in the state and the cow, hog and hen program.

According to Mr. Woolford, Lewis D. Newton, Alfred Newell and Mrs. Samuel M. Inman have consented to act as the committee of appeal. It is suggested by Mr. Woolford that the articles be written with reference to the particular vocation the writer expects to follow.

STUDENTS TO GET PRIZE FOR ESSAY ON SOUTH

Cater Woolford has offered a $50 prize to any college student writing the best essay on the subject, "What a College Graduate Can Do for the South."

All college students in Georgia are invited to enter this contest which is to close on May 20. According to advice from Mr. Woolford, the essays are not to exceed 1,000 words and are supposed to be submitted to the heads of their college, who will select the five best and send them in for final judgment to Mr. Woolford, at the Healey building.

EXPLOSION DAMAGE SUIT ORDERED TRIED IN GEORGIA COURTS

Transfer to the federal courts of a damage suit pending against the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky in the superior court of Cherokee county was refused Thursday by the state court of appeals.

The company in its petition affirmed that the case was between citizens of different states and that the case properly belonged in the United States court. The Georgia appellate court held, however, that the issue is not wholly between citizens of different states and therefore refused the petition.

The case arises out of the death of Mrs. H. A. Turner, when oil she had purchased from George I. and John Teasley, Cherokee county oil distributors, for kerosene, exploded causing her death. The suit is brought by her husband and minor children and argues that the oil sold as kerosene was either gasoline or a mixture of kerosene and gasoline of dangerous explosive qualities.

It is set forth that the oil was delivered to the Teasley brothers from a tank truck of the Standard Oil company of Kentucky and placed by their representative in the kerosene storage tank. Therefore the Teasleys and the oil company are made joint defendants in the suit for damages.

ENDEAVOR DELEGATES DEPART FOR AUGUSTA

Scores of delegates left Atlanta Thursday noon for Augusta to attend the thirteenth annual convention of the Georgia Christian Endeavor union, headed by Thomas Alvin Moye, president of the state union, and Robert M. McFarland, Jr., president of the Atlanta union.

The convention opened Thursday night in the First Christian church and will continue through today, Saturday and Sunday. It is expected that there will be several hundred delegates in attendance from all over the state.

Mayor W. P. White, of Augusta, welcomed the delegates at the session Thursday night in behalf of the city, and Miss Elsie Van Pelt, president of the Augusta Christian Endeavor union, extended a welcome to the city from that organization. Samuel K. Bell, of Atlanta, made the response in behalf of the visiting delegates, while the state leaders were introduced by Charles F. Evans, all-south general field secretary.

The principal address Thursday night was delivered by Daniel A. Poling, speaking on the subject, "Christian Endeavor and Its Challenge." J. Hastings Patterson, of Quitman, will lead the music throughout the convention. The opening song service of the convention was featured by the singing of "In the Service of the King," composed by Mr. Patterson especially for this convention.

FAIR AND COOLER IS WEATHER BILL FOR CITY TODAY

Continuation of the warm weather which has prevailed for the past few days in Atlanta is promised by C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, for today.

Since Easter Sunday temperature bordering on summer heights has been in evidence and clear skies have been the regular menu. For today the weather man promised cloudless skies with a slight drop in temperature from the past few days. The drop, however, is not expected to last more than a few days.

Moderate winds from the north and northeast are scheduled, but no high winds are expected by Mr. von Herrmann.

BETTER HOMES HEADS GUESTS AT LUNCHEON

Atlanta heads of the Better Homes in America campaign were the guests at a luncheon at the Henry Grady hotel Thursday given in their honor by the Atlanta Electrical association.

Honor guests were Mrs. Newton C. Wing, chairman; Mrs. Arthur Hazard, treasurer, and Mrs. Edwin Hardaway Smith, chairman of the equipment committee of the model to be used during the demonstration week, May 10-17.

Work at the city crematory, halted Wednesday morning when ten negro employees walked out on a strike for higher wages, was resumed Thursday when an increase from $2.25 to $2.50 per day was authorized by Mayor Walter A. Sims, pending action of council on the matter.

John Jentzen, chief of the sanitary department, was notified Wednesday that the men had refused to work on the $2.25 basis, and when he was unable to find other men to fill the places, the situation assumed larger proportions, as garbage had been accumulating since Tuesday night.

Alderman J. L. Carpenter said Thursday that he will recommend granting of the increase at the finance committee's meeting at 11 o'clock this morning.

Miss Ellen Finley Marries Dr. W. H. Kiser in New York

New York, April 16.—(Special.)—Miss Ellen Finley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Finley, and Dr. William Howell Kiser, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kiser, of Atlanta, Ga., were married this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, 1 Lexington avenue. It was a quiet home wedding, attended only by relatives and intimate friends, a number of whom came from out of town for the ceremony. The Rev. Dr. Maitland Bartlett, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Princeton, N. J., officiated.

The bride, who was escorted by her father, had no attendants. Lawson Peel Kiser was his brother's best man. The ceremony was followed by a small reception. Gramercy park, the private park which the Finley residence overlooks, was in all its spring beauty, a number of magnolia shrubs having just come into flower, and this lent an attractive and unusual background for a city wedding.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown, a very beautiful creation of white duchess satin.

Mrs. Finley, the bride's mother, wore a gown of French blueorgette combined with gold lace. Mrs. Kiser, mother of the groom, wore a gown of gray chiffon with a French hat of orchid-colored straw.

Following the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Kiser left for Asheville, N. C., where they will spend their wedding trip. They will make their home in Baltimore, Md., where Dr. Kiser is an interne at Johns Hopkins hospital.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Colonel W. H. Peel, grandfather of the groom; his brothers, Lawson Kiser and Marion Kiser; his aunt, Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun; his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howell, Jr., and Mrs. Robert F. Lawrence, of Galesburg, Ill.

Mrs. Kiser is a charming young girl with magnetic personality and beautiful brunette coloring. She is a graduate of Vassar and also of Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Finley.

Georgia Delegates Arrive For Voters' League Convention

BY ELEANOR BOYKIN.

Richmond, April 16.—(Special.)—Georgia's delegation to the National League of Women Voters' convention, which opened here today, arrived this afternoon, headed by Mrs. F. W. Alstetter, of Savannah, first vice president of the Georgia League of Women Voters. Mrs. L. L. Hendren, of Athens, state president, telegraphed Miss Belle Sherwin, national president, to say that it would be impossible for her to get to Richmond, as she had planned to do.

Other Georgians in attendance are: Mrs. R. L. Turman, president of the Atlanta branch of the league; Miss Eleanor Raoul, of Atlanta, a member of the nominating committee from the third district; and Miss Adeline Bowie, of Rome, state field worker; Miss Sally Fanny Gleaton, of Conyers, Ga., formerly connected with the Atlanta organization, but now a field organizer of the Connecticut State League of Women Voters, is taking an active part in the convention sessions.

Mrs. Alstetter Presides.

Mrs. Alstetter, who will be remembered in Atlanta as the former Miss Rebecca Raoul, was chosen for the distinction of presiding this evening at the dinner of local league presidents, held at the Commonwealth club before the reception to the delegates and visitors given by Governor and Mrs. E. Lee Trinkle at the executive mansion. Among the speakers at the dinner introduced by Mrs. Alstetter was Mrs. F. F. Bunker, of Honolulu.

The result of the league's get-out-the-vote contest for state leagues proved to be the most interesting announcement of the day, California winning with a percentage of increase in voters in the 1924 election over 1920 of nearly 26 per cent. Texas was the only southern state which received honorable mention, coming second in the contest with an increase of considerably over 35 per cent. Mississippi had a greater increase, but was not entered in the contest.

Georgia made a showing of 17 1/2 per cent increase in 1924 over the votes in 1920. This was the lowest percentage of any state which showed an increase over the previous presidential election, and next to the lowest percentage of any state in the union, South Carolina being at the bottom of the list, with only 6.30 per cent of her eligible voters represented at the polls.

The get-out-the-vote campaign of the past year has been one of the strongest features of the league of women voters program, and one of the conferences of this afternoon was devoted to report on this problem from various state delegates. Miss Mary Alice Pidgeon, of Virginia, explained why presidential elections do not attract more voters in the south. Owing to the electoral system, many people feel that their votes will not count, anyway, the majority party being sure of having their way in the electoral college, and the minority party knowing that their votes will not change the outcome.

Mrs. Cowper Speaks.

Mrs. Mary O. Cowper, of Durham, N. C., a justice of the peace, was one of the most forceful speakers at the conference on child welfare. She talked on the attitude toward child labor legislation in the south, summing it up by saying that the detour from the manufacturers and state leaders at the present time is, "We will accept to our children ourselves and we will not accept any other plans until we get good and ready." She counseled the women who are eager for the ratification of the child labor amendment to be patient and understanding, realizing that conditions in the south have vastly improved in the cotton mill districts and that any change of sentiment toward restrictions will have to be gradual.

At the press dinner this evening, the speakers were Mrs. Kate Langley Bosher, of Richmond; Robert D. Ford, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch; John S. Bryan, publisher of the Richmond Newsleader; Miss Mary Day Winn, managing editor of

The Delinestor; Mrs. Raymond Brown, consulting editor of The Woman Citizen; Mrs. Ida Clyde Clarke, editorial writer of Pictorial Review; Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson, of The Woman's Home Companion; and Mrs. Frances Parkinson Keyes, of Good Housekeeping.

ELABORATE PROGRAMS ARE OMITTED.

Richmond, Va., April 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Eight programs of constructive work, embracing every field of the organization's endeavor, were adopted in committee meetings of the National League of Women Voters here this afternoon. The programs represent the league's policies toward questions of state, national and international scope. With minor changes from the original proposals submitted by the executive committee they will be submitted for final vote on the floor of the general convention. Fifty-three specific legislative recommendations were made in the eight fields, the most outstanding of which perhaps were proposals for American policies in international relations, chiefly those seeking laws to promote the abolition of warfare. Changes in the election laws in an effort to make voting easier and simpler; government operation of Muscle Shoals; the removal of legal discriminations against women; economic legislation to regulate the costs of living; intensive war upon social evils; adjustments for women in industry; and the equalization of educational opportunity; these were among the national goals set for the league.

The preliminary work cleared away with today's meetings of the general council and the departmental committees, the first formal assembly of the convention will be held tomorrow when the programs of work for 1925-1926 will be presented and reports of officials will be heard.

The committee meetings today, while harmonious, were enlivened by spirited addresses. Each session consisted of an open and a closed program. Specialists in many branches of work and study detailed their ideas of constructive programs.

UPWARD TREND IN EMPLOYMENT NOTED IN MARCH

Washington, April 16.—The general upward trend in employment, noted in February by the employment service of the labor department, continued in March, with a satisfactory condition resulting throughout the country. The employment service, in a bulletin made public tonight, said there was a brisk demand for farm labor in all farming sections, and that there was also increased employment in the building trades.

FAKE COTTON RECEIPTS FRAUDS TO BE STOPPED

Washington, April 16.—Receipts issued by licensed cotton warehousemen will hereafter be printed on special paper of special design as a safeguard against fraudulent use of the documents, the department of agriculture announced today. Warehouse examiners, the department said, discovered cases in which the receipts, which are accepted by bankers, were used in duplicate as security for two loans. In one instance, it was said, a large bank on succeeding days loaned sums on the original and carbon copy of a receipt without discovering the deception.

The Love Cycle

BY MILDRED BARBOUR

Two Mourners.

The young Mansfields had been married a year and their first baby was shortly to arrive when Jordan Marlowe died.

Some people fade out of life easily, almost unnoticed except for the tribute of sorrow from their immediate family. Not so with Marlowe. He had lived fully, pretentiously, even picturesquely, giving to the smallest detail of every day life a dramatic intensity. Like his wife, he adored display. He wore clothes that no other man in town could have afforded to wear, both from the standpoint of money and personal taste. He was always talked about for his flirtations, although Mrs. Marlowe's exaggerated vanity refused to admit the existence of a rival.

Marlowe's death then, in accordance with his life, was no mere passing of an ordinary soul. It caused three very definite changes in the lives of other people.

In the first place, his death left a vacancy in the Weston Motors which young Mansfield was the logical person to fill. His father-in-law refused to take him into the firm until he had served a longer apprenticeship, but there was no doubt whatsoever that he would one day make his son-in-law a full partner in a business which was beginning to amass millions.

The second result of Marlowe's death was the bringing to light of his clandestine affair with a woman who called herself Mrs. Sabin. She was the woman Jordan had seen helping her father into a cab that snowy winter night nearly two years before. This affair had lasted longer than the rest and been far more serious. Marlowe had lavished money upon her and so great had been his infatuation that when he was ill or in some other way unable to go to her, he entrusted Weston with his messages and gifts. The latter neither approved nor disapproved openly, because he saw not only a weapon to hold over Marlowe, but also an opportunity to dip deeply and without question into Marlowe's personal funds.

It was at the house of Mrs. Sabin that Marlowe had his fatal attack. Several times before he had undergone the same thing only less acutely. The first one he had experienced the night Jane had seen him supported to a cab between Weston and the unknown woman. Since then his doctor had warned him, but he had scoffed at admonitions.

Death came quickly to him. He was brought home barely in time to have his wife and daughter at his bedside when his spirit passed. Mrs. Marlowe wept bitterly. Here was the shallow grief which finds quick succor in tears. Not for her the white-lipped silence, the stony, stricken gaze with which Mrs. Mansfield had gone through the early period of her widowhood.

Before morning Mrs. Marlowe had become herself again. She gave a glance to the mirror, uttered a little shriek and sent the maid flying for Eau de Cologne to bathe her red-rimmed eyelids. The shops were barely open at 9 o'clock when she dispatched a message to her modiste and milliner. By noon the smartest mourning procurable was being displayed to her in the privacy of her sitting room. With complete calmness she arranged the details of laying away the mortal remains of Jordan Marlowe.

It was a fashionable funeral and Marlowe's widow was beautiful in her weeds. She went down the church aisle, leaning on Weston's arm, a frail blond exquisite, little creature with a becoming paleness and great wistful eyes. Jane followed her, looking absurdly childish and not at all pretty in her simple black. There was one other mourner whom few of the vast congregation which had come to pay their last respects to Jordan Marlowe knew.

She slipped, into the church inconspicuously and seated herself in the last pew in the shadow of a pillar. She was heavily veiled and throughout the long ceremony she sat there, almost as motionless as the figure that lay under wreaths of flowers before the altar.

At the close of the ceremony she slipped away again unnoticed, but of all the friends and acquaintances of Marlowe, even of his family who had listened to his last rites, this stranger woman showed the only real tears. They meant grief and loneliness and sincere affection.

When Mrs. Marlowe visited the grave the following day to see that the flowers had been arranged to her satisfaction, she found among them a modest little bunch of Parma violets which had not been received at the house, nor obviously were they meant for a funeral piece.

They were a woman's heart that, worn over a corsage which had been worn over a woman's heart that, died with sorrow.

Two days later Marlowe's will was read.

He had died practically penniless (Copyright, 1925, for The Constitution.)

State Parent-Teacher Meet Comes To End at Macon

BY MRS. JOHN TOLER,
Special Staff Correspondent.

Macon, Ga., April 16.—The morning and afternoon sessions Thursday brought to a close the Parent-Teacher convention of the Georgia branch of the national congress of parents and teachers held in Macon for the past three days.

Interesting conferences on the work of a number of the departments of the state organization were important features of the two Thursday sessions. The pre-school conference was presided over by Mrs. J. C. Malone, of Atlanta, in the presence of Mrs. Clifford Walker, state and national pre-school age chairman. Mrs. Malone is chairman of pre-school age for the Atlanta P. T. A. council. She submitted the yearly report of the state chairman, which was received with enthusiastic applause by the delegates.

The delegation sent the following telegram to Mrs. Walker at the close of the reading of her excellent report: "Your absence has been keenly felt by the convention of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers, but your work has spoken in such inspiring tones that we are eager to walk the path that you have made for us, leading to ideal parenthood."

Mrs. Walker Re-elected.

Mrs. Clifford Walker was unanimously re-elected honorary state president for the next two years in recognition of her valuable and loyal services during the past year. Dr. Willis Sutton, president of the Georgia Educational association, spoke during the pre-school age conference, taking as his subject, "Realizing a Vision." Dr. Sutton urged an education for boyhood and girlhood looking toward an organized parenthood. Miss Edna Baker, president of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college and president of the kindergarten department of the National Educational association, addressed the delegates during the conference.

Miss Baker pleaded for a kindergarten education for every child, outlining the advantages of such an education. She pointed out that Georgia is one of the four states in this country that does not provide by state law for the education of children under 6 years of age. She urged the cooperation of the Georgia Parent-Teacher association to assist the State Kindergarten association in attempting to get a bill for kindergarten passed by the state legislature.

A. E. Pound, state supervisor of secondary education, reported on the greatest needs of rural P. T. A. at the conference of rural associations directed by Mrs. Robert Lassiter of Eastman.

Dr. Lacy Speaks.

Dr. B. R. Lacy, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, of Atlanta, was the principal speaker of the afternoon session. He was introduced by Miss Lois Rogers, professor of religion at Wesleyan college. Dr. Lacy delivered an eloquent address on "Religious Education." He urged the Georgia State P. T. A. to find a method by which children shall be given religious instructions during the week, the parent to choose the teacher.

The grammar school conference was presided over by Mrs. J. P. Cooper, of Perry; the church P. T. A. conference by Mrs. W. F. Clark, of Atlanta, who urged the establishing of Parent-Teacher associations in all churches. The conference of city and county council work was directed by Mrs. Henry E. Williams, of Columbus, and the high school conference by Mrs. Solomon Simons, of Albany.

Miss Anne Simpson, regional consultant of United States public health service, spoke at the high school conference, presenting the health problems of the high school age, and offering excellent advice and remedies to mothers and teachers.

Assembly singing led by Mrs. E. R. Hines, of Milledgeville, added music to the Thursday session. The State P. T. A. voted to make "Georgia Land," written by Mrs. Hines, one of its official songs. This song was sung at the opening of the afternoon session by the children of the John W. Burke school, the banner school in the standard of excellence.

Prior to the close of the convention Mrs. W. D. Lamar, of Macon, prominent figure in a number of state and national women's organizations, spoke in praise of the constructive work being done by the Georgia P. T. A. Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of Frankfort, Ky., a distinguished visitor to the convention, lauded the spirit of the state P. T. A. and its broad program.

Resolutions Passed.

The following resolutions were adopted at the afternoon session: Indorsement of humane education and request that it be taught in the public schools; resolutions of gratitude to the Laura Spellman Rockefeller memorial for its recognition of the efforts of the Georgia Parent-Teacher association toward the advancement of pre-school work in this state; indorsement of the passage of a bill creating a federal department of education with its head to be a member of the president's cabinet and that a request be made that representations from several congressional districts, foster and labor for the creation of such a department of life; indorsement of the action of the state Parent-Teacher association executive board in indorsing the kindergarten bill and children's code and concentrate efforts on the passing of these two bills; indorsement of an official prayer for the state Parent-Teacher association; indorsement of definite steps to be taken in conservation of life and property from fire; indorsement of the movement for week-day religious education; indorsement of the action of the literacy commission in requesting the Georgia legislature to include the needed $10,000 in its next educational appropriation for Georgia; indorsement requesting all Georgia Parent-Teacher associations now contributing to the Tallulah Falls school for mountain children to forward same amount to the Georgia Parent-Teacher association scholarship chairman for the purpose of establishing a scholarship to be called the Georgia Parent-Teacher association scholarship for mountain children at Tallulah Falls school; indorsement that Georgia Parent-

Atlanta Chapter D. A. R. Celebrates 34th Birthday

The Atlanta chapter D. A. R., the oldest chapter in Georgia, and the second oldest in the United States, celebrated the 34th birthday of the chapter, Wednesday, April 15, at the chapter house. Mrs. Bun Wylie, the beloved regent, presided in her usual graceful manner.

American flags and the flags of the thirteen original colonies were used to decorate the assembly hall. The six girls scouts who acted as ushers brought in the United States flag and the D. A. R. colors recently presented to the Atlanta chapter and placed them on either side of the platform. The birthday cake with the 34 colonial blue candles was on a beautifully arranged table in the center of the room.

Mrs. A. W. Hodnett and Mrs. Speil, chairman and co-chairman, with members of the house committee acted as a reception committee and hostesses for the occasion.

Mrs. Denny Petet was first on the program with a group of songs accompanied by Miss Edith Holiday. Mrs. Bun white, the regent, read the report of the year's work that was given at state conference.

A short business meeting was followed by reports from the state conference. Mrs. Thomas Mell, Mrs. Lucius McConnell, Mrs. Moreland Speer, Mrs. A. W. Hodnett, Mrs. Eli A. Thomas, Miss Virginia Hardin, Mrs. James L. Logan, Mrs. W. B. Smith, Mrs. Charles Rice and Mrs. Bun Wylie on the conference and made reports.

Mrs. Julius Talmadge, state regent, and Mrs. Howard McCall, vice president general from Georgia, were guests of honor. Mrs. Talmadge presented the chapter with a valuable book.

Mrs. J. M. High presented the chapter with a large handsome silk flag, the gift of the Founders and Patriots of America society.

Birthday Ceremony.

Cutting the cake was the next interesting feature. This was done by the past regents who were present: Mrs. Porter King, Mrs. Mary L. Raoul, Mrs. Francis E. Block, Mrs. A. M. Wilson, Mrs. Thomas H. Morgan, Mrs. Sam D. Jones, Mrs.

James O. Wynn, Mrs. J. M. High, Mrs. Bates Block, Mrs. Charles F. Rice, Mrs. David Woodward, Mrs. Elmer R. Kirk, Mrs. Charles A. Davis.

The birthday ceremony, a very beautiful one, was inaugurated under the regency of Mrs. A. McD. Wilson and is annually observed.

Mrs. Robert Blackburn read the birthday poem with its 34 appropriate verses.

The following are members of Atlanta chapter who have held the office of vice president general: Mrs. Lucien Cooke, Mrs. Albert H. Cox, Mrs. William Dickson, Mrs. Hoke Smith, Mrs. I. Y. Sage, Sr., Mrs. Robert Emory Park, Mrs. William Lawson Peel, Mrs. Sheppard W. Foster, Mrs. Howard H. McCall.

State regents: Mrs. Harry Jackson, 1892; Mrs. Porter King, 1893; Mrs. I. Y. Sage, Sr., 1903-1904; Mrs. Sheppard W. Foster, 1912-1914; Mrs. Howard H. McCall, 1916-1918.

Honorary state regents: Mrs. Martha Berrien Duncan, Miss Junia McKinley, Mrs. William Lawson Peel, Mrs. Howard H. McCall, Mrs. Sheppard W. Foster.

In 1890 the chapter contributed to the statue of General Lafayette in Paris.

The members did splendid work at Fort McPherson during the Spanish-American war.

The first Georgia state conference was held at Craig House, May 24, 1899.

July 4 was first celebrated in 1900. The second state conference was held in Atlanta, the three D. A. R. chapters cooperating.

In 1903 Mrs. Alice D. Chandler presented a scholarship in Washington to the chapter, the first gift scholarship.

In 1905 the chapter gave $50 toward erecting a Georgia column in Continental hall, in Washington, D. C.

Splendid work was accomplished during the world war under the able leadership of Mrs. Charles Rice, war regent.

The chapter has entertained the following presidents general: Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, Mrs. Donald McClain, Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, Mrs. George Thatcher Guernsey, Mrs. George Maynard Minor.

Mrs. Sue Billups Hudson and Mrs. Albert Herring, of Columbus, Miss., were welcomed visitors.

Other distinguished guests were: Mrs. B. E. Cates, past regent of the "Bonnie Kate" chapter of the D. A. R. of Knoxville, Tenn.; Mrs. J. L. Platter, Mrs. Henry Mattux, of Fort Valley, and Mrs. W. S. Coleman, regent of Joseph Hubersham chapter, D. A. R.

History of Chapter.

The national society, D. A. R., was organized in Washington, D. C., October 11, 1890, with 18 members. Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, president general.

The first chapter organized was the Chicago chapter, March 20, 1891. The Atlanta chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was organized April 15, 1891. Mrs. Harry R. Jackson was elected regent.

The historic preeminence of the Atlanta chapter in the national society, as well as the first in Georgia, warrants some mention of those who took part in its organization.

The following ladies were the 12 charter members: Mrs. Harry Jackson, Mrs. Hoke Smith, Mrs. McKinley Bussy, Mrs. Porter King, Miss Sarah Frances Grant (now Mrs. John M. Slaton), Mrs. Samuel Scott, Mrs. L. Ryers, Mrs. Robert E. Brown, Mrs. Hugh Hagan (now Mrs. Lucien Cooke), Mrs. William Lawson Peel, Mrs. Martha Berrien Duncan, Miss Junia McKinley.

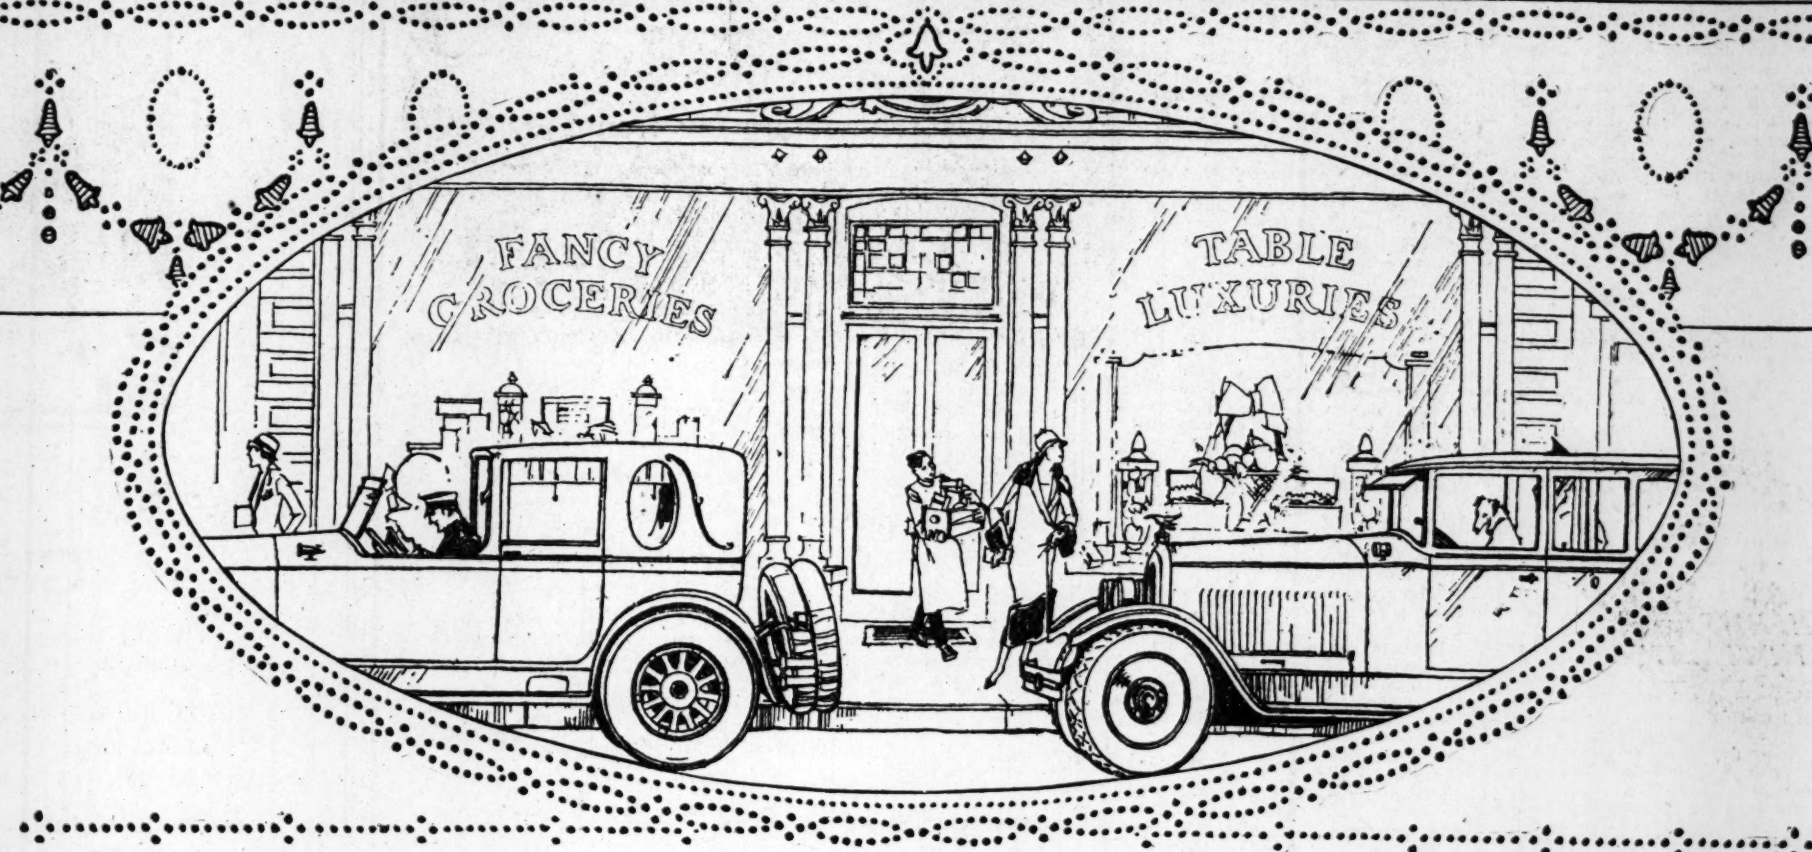

The chapter, with its 23 regents, has held so high a standard of achievement in the past that it is difficult to add to the laurels that already crown its efforts.

GAINESVILLE READY FOR BIG INVASION OF ATHLETES TODAY

Gainesville, Fla., April 16.—More than 180 high school athletes are expected here tomorrow for the eleventh annual interscholastic track and field meet which opens at the University of Florida. Twenty-nine schools will participate in the two-day meet, Friday and Saturday.

Duval (Jacksonville) is planning to send 13 men in hopes of repeating their success of Saturday when they captured the first annual invitation meet at Daytona with a score of 59. Nine schools are sending ten or more delegates each. A fast track and ideal weather conditions are indicated but present marks in the 17 events carded are said to be very good and it is doubtful whether any will be broken or equalled.

WHAT'S the NEW THOUGHT in FOOD?

There are certain modest scientists in this country who know ten times more about you than you know yourself.

These men make a life-work of food.

They are a nice kind of people to have in our country. They are quiet. They work untold hours. They don't preach. They don't try to get their names in the papers.

But how they do dig out the facts!

All in all, probably 25 such men have put a hand and a brain into the creation of Nucoa. They made it the perfect thing it is.

Dr. Philip B. Hawk, for example, says that Nucoa is changing the "nutritional landscape." And thousands of housewives today agree with him.

These are the women who are making it the style to be thrifty.

Altogether they will save more than $8,000,000 in 1925. By doing what?

By using Nucoa in the kitchen to prepare other foods—by using dainty little Nucoa Pats on the table with bread.

And what pleased them most about Nucoa?

1. CLEANLINESS. Nucoa is produced under model conditions of absolute sanitation with every modern appliance to keep human hands away from it.
2. PURITY. Nucoa is a vegetable product. It is naturally wholesome. It is refined to the point of delicacy.
3. VITAMIN A. Nucoa contains the precious Vitamin A in abundance. Without this, Vitamin
- the human body cannot grow. And the Vitamin content varies less in Nucoa than any other similar product.
4. FLAVOR. Nucoa is not exactly like anything else in flavor. It is individual and satisfying—and, by the way, so easily digested that hospitals prescribe it in specified cases.
5. UNIFORMITY. Nucoa is always the same.

Now you see why Nucoa has become a standard food. Why it is being talked about more and more. Why it is being served on the tables of those people who are "inclined to be fussy and get only the best."

Nucoa is a remarkable achievement. It belongs to this fast-progressing century. It is characteristic of an age in which folks don't do so much guessing about what they should eat.

It retails all over the United States for about 35c per pound. The low price used to be an argument against it.

But scientific facts have made this price all the more striking in the light of Nucoa's great and proven food value.

Better Homes Committee To Form National Celebration Plans

Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, chairman for the Better Homes Week, May 10 to 17, program committee, is calling a meeting of its members at her home, 632 West Peachtree street, Friday morning of this week at 10:30 o'clock to perfect plans for the national celebration of the Better Homes in America campaign, in which this committee takes such an important part.

It is the business of this committee to see that everyone from the beginning of the campaign to the end is talking and thinking "Better Homes," this being secured by means of lectures, moving pictures, demonstrations, exhibits, contests and other features.

The personnel of the Atlanta committee on programs assures this city that nowhere in the United States will be a finer or more comprehensive presentation of the subject that from now on will be engrossing the attention of millions of Americans. Mrs. Richardson, the chairman, in addition to being director for Georgia of the State Federation of Women's Clubs and president of the Better Homes committee, has been for years interested in welfare work of all kinds. Through the interest of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in the Better Homes work, on the executive board of which Mrs. John Sherman, its president, is active, Mrs. Richardson has come into close contact with the work of that body. In addition, she has been a member of the advisory board of the Atlanta committee for three years.

Atlanta Schools. Representing the large participation of the Atlanta schools in the Better Homes Week plans, on the program committee is Miss Clara Lee Cone, director of domestic science, who is not only the chairman for the Better Homes, but is also on the program committee as chairman of home economics demonstrations during the campaign week. In these are included the work of the pupils of the schools in demonstrating at the homes themselves.

Mrs. Porter Langston, vice president of the Better Homes committee and P. T. A. president of Spring Street school, is the efficient chairman on this committee for moving pictures, a number of which are produced by the government for this purpose, which will be secured and used in local picture houses during the "week." This is to be made an elaborate feature of the Atlanta campaign.

Mrs. George Howson, president of the Atlanta P. T. A., as chairman of school exhibits in general, has on her committee Mrs. George Price, representing Bass, Jr. High, and Mrs. W. O. Cheney, from Tech High. Each Junior and Senior High school during the "week" is planning a Better Homes exhibit, with articles also forming the furnishing of the model home.

On the contest committee are Mrs. George Ripley, chairman for an elaborate poster contest, with prizes offered to the school children making the best Better Homes poster, the winning one to be placed on twelve enormous poster boards during the campaign week. Mrs. Ripley is head of the Woman's division of the National Poster Art Alliance, which will offer the awards. Permission has been obtained with the school authorities to make this a most instructive affair.

Mrs. W. F. Melton, chairman of the Literacy Prevention for the fifth district, past chairman of literature for the State Federation of Women's Clubs, and present chairman in the Atlanta Woman's club, will have charge of an essay contest to be carried on in the schools.

Miss Tommie Dora Barker, Carnegie library head, has "better books" for the home, in charge, this having been an important feature of the Atlanta campaign for several years, the library furnishing the books for the model homes, and giving away book lists to all visitors.

Widely Known in Music. Atlanta has become widely known for its music, and not the least among the favorable reports has been the wonderful contribution made by the Atlanta Music club to the Better Homes programs. Mrs. George Wight has appointed Mrs. Charles Chalmers to handle this important feature. Mrs. Chalmers, widely-known musician, will receive splendid cooperation from Atlanta musicians, both for the home music and for the radio programs.

Mrs. Frank Nadeau, prominent in club and P. T. A. work, has in charge the "group talks," at the demonstration homes. Atlanta expects this year to have an even more elaborate program of talks by people of note than in past demonstrations. Mrs. Cleve Webb, who assisted in handling of the important feature of radio programs last year will have charge of this program again, and both chairmen have already secured speakers of national prominence.

The Americanization program for Better Homes, directed this year by Mrs. John Evans, will be represented at the meeting Friday by the chairman, who is also in charge of this important work for the fifth district and in the Atlanta Woman's club.

Meeting with the committee Friday will be Mrs. Newton C. Wing, Atlanta chairman for Better Homes in America, who will outline for the committee the wide scope of the national plans.

Church Circle. To Meet Today. Circle No. 1, of St. Mark's Methodist church, will meet with Mrs. Can Dorsey, at her home on Habersham road, Friday, April 17, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Hugh Powell is the efficient chairman of the circle, and she requests all members to be present.

Athletic Stunts Will Be Staged Tonight. The physical training department of North Avenue Presbyterian school will stage an athletic animation at the gymnasium Friday afternoon at 3:30 and Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The program consists of dances, burlesques, minstrels and athletic stunts and an hour of delightful entertainment is promised all who attend. Admission will be 35 cents.

Neighborhood Movie At Smilie School. Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock the last moving picture of the season will be given at the Ella Smilie school, under the auspices of the better films chairman of the parent-teacher association. This will be known as neighborhood night, and parents and neighbors are specially invited.

Kate Douglas Wiggin's story of the heart "Timothy's Quest," will be the picture. It contains the gladness of Pollyanna, the sweetness of Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm and the pathos of Amarilly all rolled into one big human picture.

Instruction School At Capital Chapter. There will be a school of instruction held by Mrs. Mamie S. Johnson, worthy grand matron of the grand jurisdiction of Georgia, Order of the Eastern Star, at Capital city hall, 423 1-2 Marietta street, Friday, April 17, 1925, beginning at 10:30 a. m. All members of the order are cordially invited to attend. Bring box lunches.

Moreland P. T. A. Meeting Postponed. The Moreland Parent-Teacher association meeting for Friday will be postponed until April 24. Please notice change of date.

Georgia Chapter To Give Monologue. Georgia chapter No. 127, O. E. S., will give a monologue entitled "Captain January," by Mrs. Juliette Parmelee, Friday, April 24, at 8 o'clock, at the Georgia Avenue school, corner of East Georgia avenue and Formwalt street.

Vaudeville To Benefit Peachtree Heights School. The vaudeville for the benefit of the Peachtree Heights school, sponsored by A. B. Willis, manager of Rich's Musical department, will be given at the school, April 17, at 7:30 o'clock. Tickets are 35 cents for adults and 15 cents for children. The public is cordially invited.

Churches' Home Tea Room. The Churches' Home tea room, between the Lyric and the Carnegie library, will serve the following menus today from 11:30 to 2:30 o'clock: Chicken dumplings, nests of cream, Irish potatoes stuffed with fresh English peas, fruit salad, hot rolls, muffins, jelly roll with whipped cream. Each Friday we will serve a fish dinner. Both menus will be 50 cents. Each day we serve a vegetable plate for 35 cents. Choice of iced tea, coffee or buttermilk with each lunch.

The hostesses of Friday will be Mrs. Clayton Callaway and Mrs. Combs.

Piano Pupils To Be Presented. Helen Schaid will present a group of pupils in piano recital at Steinway hall on Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Those appearing will include Calender Welter, Eloisa Alexander, Betty Stone, Helen Greenoe, Elizabeth Alexander, Rosetta Magill, Erquette Cox, Frances McReynolds, Rosa Lena Murphy, Ethel Isenberg, Martha Livingston, Ethel Isenberg, Mary Catherine Elkin.

FOREST FIRES STARTED BY BOY WHO CONFESSES. Monticello, N. Y., April 16.—Several of a series of forest fires, which swept over 350 acres of timberland in the Roosa Gap and Philmont region two weeks ago were set by Robert Terwilliger, 12 years old, who told county authorities today that he started the fires because he didn't like to go to school and wanted to see the school burn down.

Noted Artist Paints Panel To Adorn Atlanta Home

Mrs. Farnsworth Drew, well-known artist, who is one of the principal exhibitors at the Southern States Art league exhibit being held at the Biltmore hotel.

Mrs. Farnsworth Drew, artist of note, has recently completed an effective overmantel panel specially designed for the living room in the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kingston on Springdale road.

The panel depicts an autumn scene in the mountains of north Georgia and provides the note of vivid color which completes a room of unusual charm.

Mrs. Drew spent part of the winter in New York doing a set of designs for stained glass and mural decoration to be used by a well-known firm devoted to art products. Several of Mrs. Drew's pictures in oil are included in the Southern States Art league exhibit now being held at the Biltmore hotel.

Better Films

Matinee at Howard Theater

The program at the "Better Films" matinee on Saturday of this week will contain a number of unique features, centering the interest of Atlanta young people.

To the Girl Scout who has been chosen as the one who has been the kindest to animals during the past year, the Atlanta Humane society will award a beautiful silver cup, this being one of the most important features of the "Kind to Animals Week," which is commencing all over the nation the coming week. All Girl Scouts are specially invited to come and witness the presentation.

The feature picture, "Gentle Julia," is one of the most interesting of that popular author, Booth Tarkington, and is along the order of "Penrod and Seventeen," being deliciously comical.

"Johnny's Sword Fish," is the educational feature of great interest, while another big drawing card, is a two-reel Baby Peggy feature, "The Poor Kid."

Of more than usual interest is the prologue for the matinee, "Jamie de la Fuente," the musical prodigy of which Atlanta and the state is proud, will contribute several violin solos. This boy is prize winner in the state contest for juniors held recently, and has now been chosen to represent the state of Georgia at the southeastern convention of Federated Music Clubs, held at Columbia, S. C., this month. The programs will start at 9:30 and the admission is 10 cents.

Unlike Any Story You Have Ever Read

The Lost World

BY SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

CHAPTER VII.—Continued.

And now, my readers, if ever I have any, I have brought you up the broad river, and through the screen of rushes, and down the green tunnel, and up the long slope of palm trees, and through the bamboo brake, and across the plain of tree-fans. At last our destination lay in full sight of us. When we had crossed the second ridge we saw before us an irregular, palm-studded plain, and the line of high red cliffs which I have seen in the picture. There it was, even as I write, and there can be no question that it is the same. At the nearest point it is about 7 miles from our present camp, and it curves away stretching as far as I can see. Challenger struts about like a prize peacock, and Summerlee is silent, but still skeptical. Another day should bring some of our doubts to an end. Meanwhile, as Jose, whose arm was pierced by a broken lance, lay in full sight of us, I send this letter back in his charge, and only hope that it may eventually come to hand. I will write again as the evening closes. I have inclosed with this a rough chart of our journey, which may have the effect of making the account rather easier to understand.

CHAPTER IX.

"Who Could Have Foreseen It?"

A dreadful thing had happened to us. Who could have foreseen it? I cannot foresee any end to our troubles. It may be that we are condemned to spend our whole lives in this strange, inaccessible place. I am still so confused that I can hardly think clearly of the facts of the present or of the chances of the future. To my astounded senses this one seems most terrible and the other as black as night.

No men have ever found themselves in a worse position; nor is there any use in disclosing to you our exact geographical situation and asking our friends for a relief party. Even if they could send one, our fate will in all human probability be decided long before it could arrive in South America.

We are, in truth, as far from any human aid as if we were in the moon. If we are to win through, it is only on our own qualities, which can save us. I have as companions three remarkable men, men of great brain-power and of unshaken courage. There lies our one and only hope. It is only when I look upon the untroubled faces of my comrades that I see some glimmer through the darkness. Outwardly I trust that I appear as unconcerned as they. Inwardly I am filled with apprehension.

Let me give you, with as much detail as I can, the sequence of events which have led us to this catastrophe.

When I finished my last letter I stated that we were within seven miles from an enormous line of ruddy cliffs, which encircled, beyond all doubt, the plateau of which Professor Challenger spoke. Their height, as we approached them, seemed to me in some places to be greater than he had stated—running up in parts to at least a thousand feet—and they were curious, striated, in a manner which I believe, characteristic of basaltic upheavals. Something of the sort is to be seen in Salisbury crags at Edinburgh. The summit showed every sign of a luxuriant vegetation with bushes near the edge, and farth back many high trees. There was a indication of any life that we could see. That night we pitched our camp immediately under the cliff—almost wild and desolate spot. The trags above us were the rock merely perpendicular, but curved outwards a little, so that ascent was out of the question. Close to us was the highest pinnacle of rock which I believe I mentioned earlier in this narrative. It is like a broad red church spire, the top of it being level with the plateau, but a great chasm zapping between. On the summit of it grew one high tree. Both pinnacle and cliff were comparatively low—some five or six hundred feet, I should think.

"It was on that," said Professor Challenger, pointing to this tree, "at the pterodactyl was perched. I climbed half-way up the rock before I shot him. I am inclined to think that a good mountaineer like myself could ascend the rock to the top, though he would, of course, be no nearer to the plateau when he had done so."

As Challenger spoke of his pterodactyl I glanced at Professor Summerlee, and for the first time I seemed to see some signs of a dawning cruelty and repentance. There was a sneer upon his thin lips, but, on the contrary, a gray drawn look of excitement and amazement. Challenger saw it, too, and reveled in the first taste of victory.

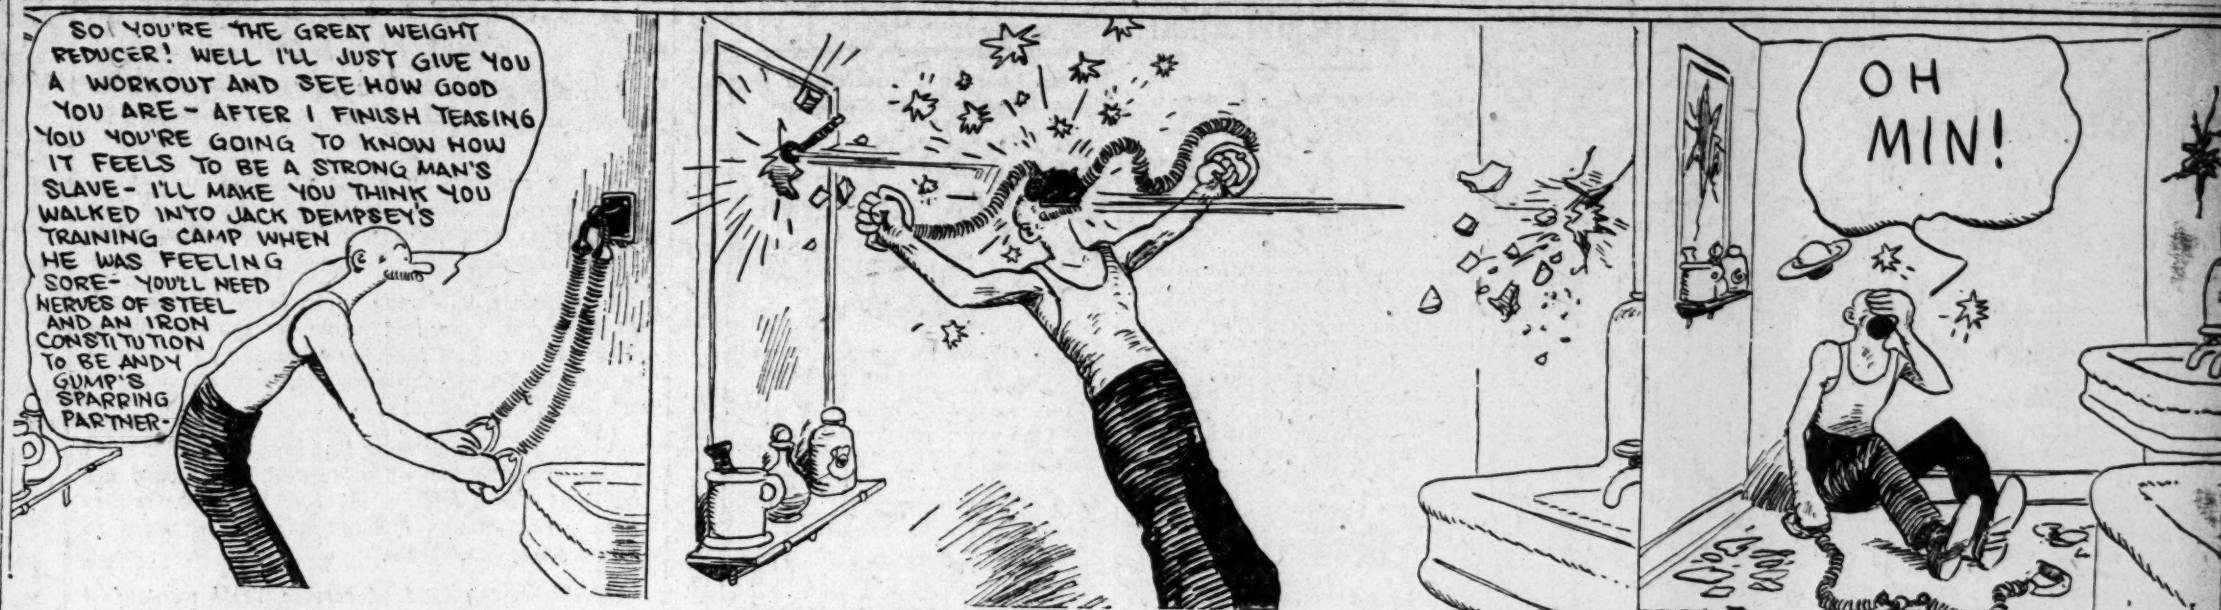

"Of course," said he, with his clumsy and ponderous sarcasm, "Professor Summerlee will understand that when I speak of pterodactyl I mean a stone—it is the kind of stone which has no feathers, a leathery skin, men braneous wings, and teeth in its jaws. He grinned and blinked and bowed until his colleague turned and walked away."

In the morning, after a frugal breakfast of coffee and manioc—we had to be economical of our stores—we held a council of war as to the best method of ascending to the plateau above us. Challenger presided with a solemnity as if he were the lord chief justice on the bench picture him seated upon a rock, his absurd boyish straws hat tilted on the back of his head, his supercilious eyes dominating us from under his drooping lids, his great black beard wagging as he slowly defined our present situation and our future movements.

Beneath him you might have seen the three of us—myself, suborned, young, vigorous after our open-air tramp; Summerlee, solemn but still cheerful, behind his eternal pipe; Lord John, as keen as a razor-edge, with his supple, alert figure leaning upon his rifle, and his eager eyes fixed eagerly upon the speaker. Behind us were grouped two swarthy half-breeds and the little knot of Indians, while in front and above us towered those huge, ruddy ribs of rocks which kept us from our goal.

"I need not say," said our leader, "that on the occasion of my last visit I exhausted every means of climbing the cliff, and where I failed I do not think that any one else is likely to succeed, for I am something of a mountaineer. I had none of the appliances of a rock-climber with me, but I have taken the precaution to bring them now. With their aid I am pos-

New York.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: Mah jongg sets at one-third price. The block on West Forty-seventh street that is always torn up. A movie cowboy armed with jingling spurs. A one-armed woman hawking free love pamphlets. Percy Mackaye. Built frame building agents. Shop windows blooming with feminine fripperies. Hurrying shoppers. Like squirrels in a cage. C. D. Gibson's standing collar. The cable who continues to cling to the old Delmonico corner. And rarely has a fare.

Giggling girls leaving tea rooms. Gentlemen with flasks. New York is becoming a hie town. Gloria Swanson's French husband. What price Gloria! A cigarette millionaire—from a Riga ghetto to a mansion on Park avenue. That's America. Shop advertisers: "Military brushes for women." Handsome Gene Markey, the Chicago critic. Madison avenue's antique district. Grandpa's bitters bottle sells for $800. Cow cream pitchers and crockery dogs. Blue glass setting lens.

The little cafe that James Huneker used to frequent. And the gaudy mansion with glass porch pillars that a romantic Wall street swindler built. Ladies in double-breasted mannish coats. And carrying canes. Where will the invasion of men's rights end? Pierre's at luncheon time. The shimmer of pearls. Blue shirts a la Prince of Wales. The gold caparisoned lacquies who serves toast. The patter of light conversation—as swift as pelting rain. Covarrubias, the caricaturist.

Wonder if I'll have to pay the check! Or merely sign it. Why can't each dinner have just one knife and one fork. And abolish French sauces. No American food left in New York.

Roman steak. Roman biscuit. Roman punch. Business of chasing myself around the Acropolis.

Michael Arlen, the gifted Armenian novelist, was branded as an impostor by Irvin Cobb at a select dinner of the literati. "I have known Arlen an hour," said Cobb, "and he has not tried to sell me a rug."

Edna Ferber tells this one. She invited Charles Hanson Towne to accompany her on a visit to New York's most beautiful cemetery. "A Jewish cemetery," exclaimed Towne. "I did not know there were any dead."

Then there is the story of the beautifully gowned lady in extremely delicate frock who sat next to one of the current wits. Three huge vaccination marks showed on her arm. He glanced at them and said, "I see you came through the plague nicely."

Cholly Knickerbocker, the chubbier society editor, tells me of a new chaperonage arrangement for debutantes. They are escorted to social affairs by prim ladies who are known as "maid chaperons." It is their duty to wait for their charges in ante-rooms and see that they arrive home in good shape. He also tells me that many society women often go to parties without knowing who the hostess will be until they arrive. Social secretary gives the list and instructions to the chauffeur.

When I used to go to dancing school our hired girl, Alice Bunch, escorted me and so thin were social restriction that Alice danced with the little boys.

A Middleboro man bought a radio set in Boston and drove to the city to get it. While there he was held up in a traffic jam when a car knocked a man down. When he got home and installed the set the first thing that came over the air was an account of the accident that had delayed him.

The Fascinating Petrova.

(Coming to the Atlanta.)

One of the big events of Grand Opera week will be the appearance of Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with matinee Saturday, at the Atlanta theater of America's foremost dramatic artist, Olga Petrova, in her most sensational success, "Hurricane," of which she is at the same time the author.

"I can't see that 'Hurricane' is startling," said Madame Petrova, "but if some of the public finds it so," she waved an expressive hand, "perhaps it is." It all depends on one's viewpoint.

Olga Petrova has the courage to voice her convictions frankly, and without equivocation. Sometimes, as in the first act, she is a woman who drives home her truths with an unadorned vivacity; again, as in the last act, she does it in lines that breathe of the most exquisite poetry.

Mail orders for the Atlanta engagement are now being received. The box office sale starts on Monday morning.

"Lightnin'."

(At the Lyric.)

The Lyric Players this week are scoring one of their greatest successes with "Lightnin'," the famous play about an old man whose character is one of the most sympathetic and comic portrayals ever seen on the stage. "Lightnin'" has one of the most remarkable records of success of any play ever produced for after running for three years on Broadway it has now toured the country for four additional years and its popularity shows no signs of abating.

The production by the Lyric Players is one of their best.

Loew's Vaudeville.

(At Loew's Grand.)

Franklin D'Amore continues to keep Loew's Grand patrons amazed at his strength and amuse them at his contagious good humor and clever comedy at all performances this week.

His burlesque classic dance is the funniest thing done here in months. "The Co-Eds," among the four excellent supporting acts in addition to D'Amore, garnish a fair share of applause with a snappy dance review.

The screen feature is "Excuse Me," the noted writer Hughes comedy in which Walter Hiers, Georgia, comedian, has the best comedy role, along with Conrad Nagel, Norma Shearer and Rene Adore in more romantic characters.

PIEDMONT QUARTET

SINGS HERE TONIGHT

The Piedmont college quartet will appear in concert at the Central Congregational church tonight.

This engagement will open a long tour in the interest of the $10,000,000 endowment fund drive for the benefit of the Georgia college. The tour will include Chattanooga, St. Louis, and leading cities throughout Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York. Other tours will be announced at a later date.

This male quartet will be directed personally throughout the tour by Miss S. P. Spencer, director of the department of music at Piedmont college, of Demorest. It is composed of: First tenor; George H. O'Connell, second tenor; Martin Stinecifer, first bass; Jesse Stinecifer, second bass, and Ralph Stuecher, accompanist.

Tonight's program will include such numbers as, "A-Hunting We Will Go," "Southern Memories," "Laugh, Boys, Laugh," "Negro Sermon," "Punkie Sue," "Knocked 'Em in the Old Kent Road," "Lazy Song," "Gone With the Wind," "Twelfth," "Poor Ned," "That Little Peach," "Three for Jack," "The Woodchuck," "Swing Along," "De Copiah Moon," "Joy of the Morning," and "The To-gether's Song." From the "Carmen," interspersed throughout the program are solo numbers to be sung by each of the members of the organization.

All indications Thursday pointed to a decision today on the territorial brought by James C. Beavers, ousted chief of Atlanta police, in an effort to set aside the ruling of the police committee of city council and to have him reinstated as police head. Judge George L. Bell, of Fulton county court, before whom the hearing on the writ is being argued, continued arguments until this morning.

Jesse M. Wood, assistant city attorney, appearing in behalf of the council committee, will conclude his argument this morning. George Spencer, attorney for Beavers, contends that the grounds on which Beavers was dismissed from the department are "flimsy excuses." He has asked the court to set aside the ruling of the committee and reinstate Beavers as chief of the Atlanta force.

Hearing on the case has been in progress since Tuesday morning, and a mass of documentary evidence has been submitted. The record of the trial before the police committee has been reviewed by the court.

COOKING UP A SCHEME

To Get A Cook

Is rather a simple and straightforward undertaking, when one knows the proper ingredients to use:

A few explanatory words arranged in a short but coherent sentence and set away to cool in The Constitution classified "Help Wanted" columns are all that are needed.

J. H. Miller, 93 Inman circle, knew how to cook up such a scheme last week—he guessed wrong about the length of time the ad should be set away to cool in The Constitution. He guessed one full day was about right, but—

When The Constitution had been out but a short while, the day his ad appeared, we heard the words: "Please kill my ad. I've had more replies than I can handle. I didn't know there were so many cooks in Atlanta."

If this is the kind of service you want—just call Main 5000 and ask for an ad-taker.

W. L. MEADOR VERY ILL AT LOCAL SANATORIUM

W. L. Meador, of 696 Peachtree, popular insurance man, is critically ill at Davis-Fischer sanatorium. His condition was so serious that an operation was necessary.

The time for the trial was set after conference between William Schley Howard and James A. Branch, attorneys for the accused boys, and Solicitor General Joe Duke, Putnam county prosecutor, according to Mr. Branch.

Professor Wright was found mortally wounded several weeks ago on the Dixie highway near Eatonton. S. J. Scarborough, alleged member of the gang who attacked the educator, has been held in jail at Athens. He is said to have confessed and to have implicated Coggeshall and McClellan. Both the latter youths deny all connection with the affair and declare the alleged confession was written from the Athens prisoner by third degree methods.

Ten thousand post-mortem examinations were held by Dr. Soegert, the criminal expert who died in Paris recently.

Two Men Held In Wright Case Moved to Macon

Macon, Ga., April 16.—T. L. Coggeshall, of Clayton, Ill., and F. W. McClellan, of Brocton, N. Y., two of the three men under arrest in connection with the murder of W. C. Wright, Putnam county school superintendent, were transferred from Atlanta to the Bibb county jail here at 8 o'clock tonight.

The transfer was made by Sheriff Walton, of Putnam county. No explanation was made, further than that he would keep the prisoners here until the case comes up for trial.

These two men, with S. J. Scarborough, of Tampa, were indicted a month ago by the Putnam county grand jury. Scarborough is being held in jail at Athens.

MACON LESS EXPENSIVE TO COUNTY.

Eatonton, Ga., April 16.—(Special.)—It was stated here today that there is no special significance attached to the removal of the men held in connection with the death of Professor W. C. Wright from Atlanta to Macon, except that Macon is nearer to Eatonton, and that it will be less expensive to the county.

It is expected that the men will go on trial here on May 4.

TRIAL SET FOR MAY 4.

Prof. Coggeshall and F. W. McClellan, held at Fulton tower on indictments growing out of the robbing and slaying of Professor W. C. Wright, superintendent of Putnam county schools Thursday afternoon were removed to Bibb county jail at Macon, where they will await trial, May 4, at Eatonton. It was announced by officials at the Fulton jail.

Branch and Howard, of Atlanta, defense attorneys, announced they have abandoned a fight for a change of venue for the trial of the case, which was called for trial last month.

At that time attorneys sought the change of venue and their delay caused by carrying the fight to the Georgia supreme court forced the case to be continued.

The time for the trial was set after conference between William Schley Howard and James A. Branch, attorneys for the accused boys, and Solicitor General Joe Duke, Putnam county prosecutor, according to Mr. Branch.

Professor Wright was found mortally wounded several weeks ago on the Dixie highway near Eatonton. S. J. Scarborough, alleged member of the gang who attacked the educator, has been held in jail at Athens. He is said to have confessed and to have implicated Coggeshall and McClellan. ## MORTUARY

A Word of Comfort.

Recognize that you cannot see things in their actual proportions in the darkness of the night of grief and heartache. Hold fast to the faith, which has sustained you during sunny days, that God loves you and bears your sorrows with you, and that He will give you courage enough to carry you on until the sun shines once again.

Before long you will become conscious of the nearness of your dear ones in paradise; you will know that they love as of yore and that soon you will be together again and forever.
